VERA CRUZ ASKS AID OF U. S.

PREPARE SHIPS FOR DASH TO SOUTH

By International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10.—Commander McNamee of the gunboat Sacramento and in charge of American interests at Vera Cruz, has appealed for American battleships to be rushed there to protect American interests.

The battleships Louisiana and New Hampshire, now at Newport, are in readiness to sail just as soon as orders are received. The sailing orders are held up temporarily pending word from President Wilson at Cornish.

Naval officials passed the tip that within a very short time a good part of the Atlantic fleet would again be stationed in Mexican waters.

The old cry of Gringo domination is being adroitly raised. A confidential communication received by the State Department indicates that has been another show of force is made within a short time, all foreigners, regardless of nationality, will be in danger of massacre.

Admiral Benson, acting Secretary of the Navy, declined to admit he was planning to send the vessels South. Secretary of State Lansing, when asked whether orders to get them going had been authorized by him, said: "There are no warships going to Mexico as yet."

OFFICIALS SECRETIVE.

When asked regarding the dispatches received by the Navy Department that the anti-foreign sentiment in Vera Cruz was growing and that because of this the gunboat Marietta had been ordered from Progreso to Vera Cruz, Secretary Lansing said:

"The Marietta is going to bring the Brazilian minister to the United States and I know nothing whatever about any other movement of ships."

It is certain that the situation at Vera Cruz and throughout the territory controlled by Carranza is rapidly getting beyond control. The reports that are being circulated by the Carranza leaders, backed up by messages from the United States about the Wilson administration, are inflating the populace.

The administration is understood to be anxious to avoid the use of force, or even an appearance of it, until after the conference in New York tomorrow between the Latin-Americans and Secretary Lansing.

A rush message has been sent to Commander McNamee, asking him to wireless at once just why he wants more ships.

EMERGENCY PLANS.

It is understood that if the emergency arises the Tennessee, en route to Haiti with Colonel Waller's marines on board, will be diverted by wireless and sent on to Vera Cruz, while Rear Admiral Caperton may also be sent there from Port-au-Prince.

The present intentions of the government do not contemplate any movement of troops. Even the warships will not be sent until Secretary Lansing and President Wilson are convinced this action is necessary to prevent massacres. This attitude has displeased the navy men, who have accepted the Vera Cruz commander's statements at their face value and believe he should be backed up to the very limit.

PRINCESS MARY HELD FOUR HOURS AS GERMAN SPY

Princess Mary, daughter of King George of England, who forgot her passports on a visit "to the front." Unrecognized by the vigilant guard, she was detained as a suspect. Photograph by International News Service.

LONDON, Aug. 10.—A member of the British royal family—thanks to the efficient espionage net of the allies at the front—has been arrested, charged with being a German spy. For four hours Princess Mary was held under guard, while officers, sympathetic but skeptical, investigated her claims to royal privileges.

Having gone on an incognito visit to the hospitals at the front, Princess Mary, accompanied by Mlle. Dussau, started to meet her brother, the Prince of Wales, at the British headquarters.

When about six miles from the village where the staff was located her car was halted by a French patrol. Unluckily the occupants had forgotten their passports and permission papers, nor did the patrol recognize royalty in the name of Lady Chester, which Princess Mary gave.

Leaving the car with its occupants under the guard of two French soldiers, and with the assurance that they would be shot at 6 o'clock in the evening, the corporal went in search of the officer in command of the outpost. Not until four hours later did the officer return.

The identity of the prisoners was then established by messages to the British headquarters.

Italians Deny Loss of 200,000 Men

ROME, August 10.—Teuton claims that the Italians had lost 200,000 men in the war against Austria are pronounced as ridiculous in an official statement issued by the War Ministry today.

Italian newspapers, commenting on the enemy's reports of severe losses suffered by the army of King Victor Emmanuel, assert that the false statements are sent out with the hope of influencing neutral nations and preventing them from entering the war.

FATHER DENIES GERRY IS 'OLIVER'

DENIES HIS SON WAS OSBORNE

Despite the fact that the photograph of "Captain" Herbert F. Gerry, cowboy, ranchman and private detective, had been identified as that of the missing "Oliver Osborne" who won prominence in Rae Tanzer's breach of promise suit against Former Assistant District Attorney James W. Osborne, Gerry's father in Boston today denied that his son ever posed as the long missing "Oliver."

James C. Gerry, of No. 6 Mountain avenue, Chitcndale, father of Gerry, said today:

"I know where my son is. He is not Oliver Osborne. I have just received a letter from him, in which he states that he is not Oliver Osborne. He did not leave Boston with a sentence of larceny hanging over him. That can be disproved.

"I am also positive he was in Boston March 19. He was not out of Massachusetts between November and June. He did not work as a machinist. Nothing about machinery does he know. Jean de Veries is not with him.

COULD COME BACK.

"He could come back to this city at any time and justify his action. Of this I am positive."

The Gerry family claims that the son has done nothing wrong, but that he was hounded out of town by agents of the Watch and Ward Society.

Gerry left here in May with a sentence for larceny hanging over his head if he should ever return. He is now in a wild little town in Utah.

Gerry was a little of everything in Boston. He worked for the Watch and Ward Society for a time, especially in connection with the Ferncroft Inn raids. Also he conducted the "Tiger" Detective Agency, and told thrilling stories of his adventure as the "Tiger"—a detective who rivalled William J. Burns.

A picture of Gerry has been identified by Miss Blanche Unger, a young department store stenographer in New York, as that of the man who received from her letters addressed to "Oliver Osborne" and "Oliver H. Osborne." Miss Unger says Gerry-Osborne tried to flirt with her.

IDENTIFY GERRY'S PICTURE.

"Oliver Osborne of Boston" lived at No. 181 East Sixtieth street, in New York; and Gerry's picture was identified there also.

Rae Tanzer withdrew her suit against James W. Osborne after meeting him face to face. She said she made a mistake in identity—that he is not the man she knew as "Oliver."

After her suit was filed a man appeared at the office of James W. Osborne's attorneys and said he was the "Oliver Osborne" Miss Tanzer had known.

He gave two Boston addresses. He produced letters from Miss Tanzer. He said he had lived at No. 222 West Newton street, Boston, and that he had worked as a machinist at No. 210 Clay street.

At neither office of which he could any trace of him be found, and after that one appearance in New York, Oliver mysteriously disappeared.

U-Boats Sink Neutral Bark, British Fishers

LONDON, Aug. 10.—The Norwegian bark Nordmand has been sunk by a German submarine.

The bark's crew was rescued and landed at Christianta today.

A German submarine has sunk the English trawler Harbor Wiper. The crew was saved.

The British trawler Westminster was sunk in the North Sea by a German submarine today. The crew was saved.

OLD JOHN BROWN DIES IN PLUNGE OF 60 FEET

"Old John Brown," a familiar character to thousands of Boston business men and clerks who have had scissors, knives and other office utensils sharpened by him for years, today met his death when in some unknown manner he fell down an elevator well, a distance of 60 feet, at No. 73 Summer street.

Brown died at the Relief Hospital. He was on his way to the top floor, where several girls employed by an umbrella concern are his customers. They only knew him as "Old John Brown."

No one saw him fall. A click of the elevator gate and a moan from the well were the only warnings that something had happened.

Albert Cummings, shipper for the umbrella concern, was the first to reach Brown, who was terribly injured.

Brown had been in the habit of using the freight elevator in most of the buildings he visited. It is believed he became confused with some of the ropes, became frightened and attempted to jump off the moving elevator at the fifth floor.

Prof. Munsterberg's Brother Is Dead

Mother of 16 Gets in Line for Divorce

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10.—After living together thirty-five years, Mrs. Rose Ella Crawford, mother of sixteen children, of whom twelve are living, wants a divorce from John Crawford, a carpenter. She alleges that he beat her and failed to properly support her.

DRIVEN TO STREET BY FIREBUG

A number of people were driven to the streets by a fire, believed to be incendiary, today in the hay and grain storage house of B. F. Griggs & Son, at No. 634 Shawmut avenue. The flames threatened the tenement house district of lower Roxbury.

The first rush of smoke drove out all the tenants of the three-story tenement houses at No. 25 Woodbury terrace, ten feet at the rear of the storage house, and at No. 3 Derby place.

Fire officials and the police of the Roxbury Crossing Station declared the fire had every appearance of being incendiary. They began an investigation immediately. Tenants of an adjoining building informed the police they saw a boy running out of the building shortly before the fire started.

Because of the proximity of the wooden dwellings, Junior Deputy Chief Sennot sounded a second alarm. Firemen laid a line of hose through the Woodbury terrace building abandoned by its occupants and forced the flames out through the front end of the burning building. The loss is estimated at $1,000.

Checks Lynn Fire, May Lose Four Toes

While checking what might have resulted in a serious fire, early today, at the General Electric Plant at Lynn, Martin Thornton, an employe, received burns about the body. Four of his toes may also have to be amputated.

Burglars Raid the Dana House at Cambridge

A visit o fburglars to the Richard H. Dana mansion at No. 113 Brattle street, Cambridge—and particularly to the Dana wine closet—was reported to the Cambridge police today by John Herlihy, caretaker.

Mr. Dana is the father of Edmund Trowbridge Dana. The Danas are now at their Summer place at Manchester-by-the-Sea.

The Dana mansion, which is next to the Henry Wadsworth Longfellow house on Brattle street, is surrounded by extensive lawns with thick shrubbery. The burglars forced a rear window, ransacked the mansion and helped themselves to wine. The break was made sometime between Saturday night and yesterday morning.

Whether the burglars secured any valuables—except the wines—will not be known until the Danas return to take account of household stock.

Rowley Employe Cleared of Death

The case of Thomas Connolly, employed as a caretaker at the farm of Clarence W. Rowley, a Boston lawyer, was today dismissed in the Woburn District Court. Connolly was charged with manslaughter in connection with the mysterious death of Frank Mahoney of Brockton, whose body was found on the Crowley estate.

Francis Christiano, seventeen, of No. 136 Border street, East Boston, while riding his bicycle in Maverick square, was knocked down by an automobile, operated by Francis Lane of East Boston. Lane took Christiano to the East Boston Relief Hospital where he was found to be suffering from cuts and bruises.

NEW LOSS DISMAYS RUSSIA

By International News Service.

PETROGRAD, Aug. 10.—Evacuation of Vilna, capital of the government of Vilna has been ordered by the Russian War Office. The evacuation has begun. The treasures of the great library and museum are being removed.

Official announcement to this effect was made here today and caused deep dismay. Vilna is a city of nearly 200,000 inhabitants and an important railway centre, 55 miles southeast of Kovno and about 250 northeast of Warsaw.

The announcement of its evacuation was the first intimation that had been made that the retreating Russian army would abandon the Kovno-Grodno-Brest-Litovsk line of defence and withdraw farther into the interior of Russia.

Kovno and Grodno constitute the main defenses of Vilna, which is on the Warsaw-Petrograd railway, and it is considered highly improbable that the Russians would evacuate it if they expected to keep the two fortresses.

RUSSIA'S NEW LINE OF DEFENCE DOOMED; VILNA IS EVACUATED

the defenses of the Gulf of Riga further evidence that the Kaiser's land campaign in the district south of Riga has come to an inglorious end.

Before German troops were able to occupy Libau, they were compelled to call upon the German navy for assistance, and the fact that the warships not only failed in their efforts to penetrate the Riga Gulf, but also suffered severe damage is declared by the military experts to be proof that the Russian flanks on the Baltic dunes are free from danger.

Absence of news as to what has halted fighting on the Narew-Vistula-Vlepra front is generally regarded here as an indication that the Austro-German forces suffered heavy losses in crossing these three rivers that they were unable to pursue the retreating Russians with any rapidity. Practically all its artillery was saved by the Russian army when it withdrew to its second line of defences, the War Office asserts, and when the munition plants now being established are able to turn out sufficient supplies Grand Duke Nicholas will resume his offensive.

GERMANS SWEEP AWAY RESISTANCE OF THE RUSSIANS

By FREDERICK WERNER.

BERLIN, Aug. 10.—Surging toward the second line Russian fortress of Brest-Litovsk, 110 miles east of Warsaw, the Austro-German forces of Field Marshal von Mackensen and Archduke Joseph Ferdinand are sweeping away all resistance at every point where the Russian rearguard makes a stand.

Continuous fighting and retreating are wearing down the Russians to complete exhaustion, declare prisoners, but on the other hand there is no evidence that the German drive has lost any of its original velocity.

If the Austro-German forces are able to continue their steady advance, the Russian army of Grand Duke Nicholas may find upon its arrival at Brest-Litovsk a human wall through which it cannot cut.

GERMANS NEAR RAILWAY.

General von Scheuitz's German forces south of the Ostrow-Wyasskow road are within eight miles of the Warsaw-Petrograd railway, and the troops of General von Woyrch that crossed the Garwolin-Kozow road are within twenty-five miles of the railway running from Warsaw into Central Russia by way of Siedlce. These are the only two avenues of escape for the Russian army in the sector of Warsaw.

The Warsaw-Petrograd line runs directly to the capital; the second line runs to Siedlce, an important junction, from which point one branch runs toward the northeast through Wolkowysk and the other continues toward the southeast to Kiev by way of Brest-Litovsk.

By the occupation of Prga the Germans are now in control of the terminals of six railway lines that converge there from the north, east and south.

The Russians have proved obstinate fighters, and their tenacity in withstanding the German fire has cost them enormous losses. Prisoners report that all the base hospitals are full and that there are thousands of wounded for whom hospital accommodations cannot be found at all. As the Germans go forward they find many Russian wounded lying in fields, forests and roadways, some of them wearing first aid bandages and others showing no evidence of attention whatsoever.

LEAVE TRAIL OF FIRE.

In their retreat to the Vlepra river and north of it the Russians burned forests, and hay fields behind them to hinder the pursuit of the Austro-German cavalry.

Bombardment of the Russian forts of Novo Georgievsk, Kovno, and Ossowiec by German artillery continues night and day. The biggest calibre guns that the Teutonic forces have on the eastern front are being used.

On the Narew river front the Germans are drawing a circle around Lomza, where there is supposed to be a Russian army corps. If the Germans succeed in capturing this force, as well as the army in Novo Georgievsk, it would mean nearly 75,000 more Russian prisoners.

Following the capture of Warsaw with the German army, Prince Leopold issued a proclamation announcing that the German troops would maintain order and will conduct war only against hostile and not against peaceful citizens.

To Repeat "Lohengrin."

Mrs. Fred McQuesten will open her Summer home, Quisisana, at Wellesley Hills, tomorrow, for a repetition of the recital of "Lohengrin," for the war relief fund.

DEMAND MEXICO RIVALS MEET FOR PEACE

Mexican raiders at Norias, forty-two miles west of Harlingen, in the Brownsville district, was the severest language in a report by General Funston to the War Department today.

Four of the bandits were killed and several wounded before the attackers were driven off. One Mexican woman in the Norias station was killed and three soldiers and two civilians slightly wounded by the bandits, who are being pursued by a detachment of the Twelfth Cavalry.

Mexican bandits made an attempt to raid the town of Sebastian early today. They were surprised by a night watchman, who gave the alarm. He was immediately shot by the marauders, who fled.

Another band of Mexicans is reported to be headed for the Yturria ranch in the northern part of Cameron County. United States troopers and Texas rangers are in pursuit.

In a clash between American cowmen and Mexican bandits between Donna and Mercedes, early today, one of the Mexicans was killed. The U. S. soldiers captured a mule laden with ammunition which the bandits abandoned in their flight.

WILSON WILL DEMAND ALL FACTIONS ATTEND A PEACE CONFERENCE

By International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10.—A Mexican peace conference will be demanded following the conclusion of tomorrow's conference between the Latin-American diplomats and Secretary Lansing in New York city. This will be the first step in the "definite peace program" approved by President Wilson. Several long code messages were sent the President at Cornish, N. H., today.

All factions in Mexico, military and civil, will be urged in a general appeal, issued by the United States and the Latin-American countries, to unite in a meeting to agree on the best methods of restoring constitutional government and establishing a stable and peaceful condition.

Any other factions which do not participate will be made the target of a sweeping arms embargo, and the friendship and moral support of the United States and the South American nations will be thrown behind the government recognized by the majority.

Villa, and through him Zapata, has been lined up for the plan by General Scott, it is believed here. Carranza is expected to prove the great stumbling block. But powerful pressure is already at work on him and his chief generals to secure their support. It is believed that the peace conferences would be willing to make sweeping concessions to solve the problem. Should it appear, indeed that at the last moment he will see the necessity of being a part in the new general plan, which is expected to solve the Mexican problem and end anarchy in that troubled republic.

If Carranza does not, then the government that will have the support of the western powers will be established in the North, will be fully financed and given encouragement to get all of the munitions it needs and will be expected to go ahead and eliminate Carranza as a material factor.

The first factor in the peace conference will be to seek an armistice.

PAY TRIBUTE TO MEMORY OF O'REILLY

Twenty-five years ago today John Boyle O'Reilly, poet, editor, Irish national leader and widely loved citizen of Boston, died at his Summer home in Hull.

This afternoon, the members of the John Boyle O'Reilly Club held a luncheon at the City Club, at which men prominent in Boston and New England life paid eloquent tribute to the memory of their departed friend.

The guests included:

Governor David I. Walsh, Mayor James M. Curley, Rev. Charles W. Lyons, S. J., president of Boston College; Samuel J. Elder, Postmaster William F. Murray, Supreme Court Justice James A. Jenney, Colonel Charles H. Taylor, Thomas A. Forsyth, A. Shuman, Supreme Court Justice Charles A. DeCourcy, J. N. Wheelwright, General Edward Anderson, Captain Henry C. Hathaway, John R. Murphy, Port Director Edward F. McSweeney, Edward A. McLaughlin, George F. Babbitt, James E. Cotter, John H. Fahey, William F. Kenney, William F. Fitzgerald, James J. Phelan, Denis A. McCarthy, Michael J. Dwyer, Judge John D. McLaughlin, Bernard J. Rothwell, H. Staples Potter, Joseph Smith, Humphrey O'Sullivan, Judge John H. Burke, T. B. Fitzpatrick, J. W. Reardon, J. Mitchel Galvin, James S. Murphy, Judge P. M. Keating, Judge M. J. Murray.

The memorial exercises were opened by A. Shuman, president of the John Boyle O'Reilly Club, who spoke as follows:

MR. SHUMAN'S TRIBUTE.

"Great men grow greater by the lapse of time. We know those least whom we have seen the latest."

O'Reilly's own words, spoken in loving eulogy of one of his great countrymen, echo through the years until today, twenty-five years after the sweet singer himself passed to his rest, they spring unbidden to our lips when we endeavor to find fitting words for our tribute of affection to him and his memory.

The truest test of a man's life is the influence he exerts upon the lives and hearts of others, and the value of that influence is determined by how long it lives after he himself has passed away. If it has been one of love and kindness and unselfish endeavor for the good of others, then the memory of such a man lives long and never fruit through untold generations.

Loving kindness was the keynote of John Boyle O'Reilly's character. If you will read his poems and speeches you will find every thought is brought out more than any other. He would have said, perhaps, that his dominant note was patriotism, but was not the love he bore, both for his native land and the land of his adoption, the kindness that he felt and practiced for all his fellowmen, the foundation even of his patriotism?

His life was so filled with kindness, generosity and gentle affections that their fragrance comes to us even after these many years and renders him dear to memory.

I think I cannot better describe him that by again quoting from his own lines:

"He lost no friend;
Who had him once, knew, loved to the end.
He mourned all selfish and shrewd endeavor;
In his heart's kingdom was weak one never.
When censure was passed, he was kindly dumb;
He was never so wise but a fool would come.
He was never so old that he failed to enjoy
The games and the dreams he had loved when a boy;
He erred and was sorry; but never drew
A trusting heart from the pure and true.
What friends he had from the years to be,
God grant they may say the same of me."

His prayer was answered.

Twenty-five years after the close of his useful life, his friends look back and say this of John Boyle O'Reilly.

Following President Shuman's address, the order of exercises was as follows:

Addresses: Governor Walsh, Mayor Curley, Samuel J. Elder.
Original poem: Joseph Smith.
Reminiscences of O'Reilly: George F. Babbitt, T. B. Fitzpatrick, Captain H. C. Hathaway.
Closing address: Justice Charles A. De Courcy.

During the afternoon the following poem by Katherine E. Conway, who was an associate editor of the Boston Pilot, under Mr. O'Reilly, was read at the table:

JOHN BOYLE O'REILLY: 1915 IN WAR TIME.

By KATHERINE E. CONWAY.

Asked wishfully:
"Oh, friend, who kept his words within this heart,
What word of all his words must stand apart
His vigil to keep?
What word shall live
Fruit of his bright, brief years—best memory?"
One word: "Forgive."

He lived the word.
Passion of vengeance in his heart long stilled;
Wrongs to oblivion willed;
Till his betrayer he could meet unstirred
By aught but pity; pouring oil and wine
Into his wounds, like him Christ praised of old
In truth divine.
Resting him on his way with cheer and gold.

What of today?
On which side, in the conflict oversea,
A man may waive his own wrongs—what of those
His Motherland's? Would he come back to her
Mother, take Britain's tardy freedom-gift,
Stamp with forgiveness her long guilt confessed,
Hand thus beside her, thine own sword uplift,
Until the sorrows of the weak redressed—
A larger freedom shines
Upon rekindled hearts!
Were this his word? Who knew him answer-eth, "Yea!"

He would revive
In brother-clash of Kelt and Saxon hands,
In serried ranks of all the allied lands
Against the last and worst of Freedom's foes;
Nor lift for peace his voice,
Nor will the conflicts close
Till all the wrongs are righted
And Tyranny, affrighted,
Back to its shrunken shell
Shrieketh again as toll of passing bells,

YOUNG MEN TO RUN CANAL AND PLAN DEFENCE

By International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10.—There is to be a new deal on the Panama Canal. The men who built the great waterway are to have little more to do with it. Their places are to be taken by younger men who will keep the plant up to date and ready to prove a powerful factor in the national defence, if need be.

The change means no reflection on General Goethals and the men who worked shoulder to shoulder with him in the old days. But Goethals has quit—his resignation takes effect November 1, and the old-timers are coming out with him because they believe that the new governor will want his own men.

Colonel Chester Harding, of the engineering corps is now acting governor. He will be Goethals' successor when the latter goes on the retired list and hangs out his shingle as a consulting engineer in New York. Harding is expected to bring with him only officers who are junior to him. Because of this, naval officers who under the law are under the War Department while serving in the Canal Zone, and who actually rank Harding, are applying for transfer to other posts.

Incidentally Colonel Harding and his subordinates will have their hands full combatting the landslides that continue to block the canal for days at a time. All efforts by the experts to find a way of treating the banks so that they will remain intact have failed.

Narrow Escape for Bar Harbor Express

GROTON, Ct., Aug. 10.—The Bar Harbor express, en route from New York, narrowly escaped a wreck here. A switching locomotive mistook a signal to advance to the main track, over which the Bar Harbor express was due to pass in two minutes. The express brushed by the switcher as the latter was backing up at full speed to safety on the side track.

Boston Man to Wed Dorothy Warrin

NEW YORK, Aug. 10.—Dr. and Mrs. Marshall Lord Warrin of Flushing and Amagansett, L. I., have announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Dorothy Holt Warrin, to Leonard Hatch of Boston. Mr. Hatch is a graduate of Harvard University, class of 1905. No date has been set for the wedding.

Wife Discovers Husband Suicide

PAWTUCKET, Aug. 10.—Mrs. Albert A. Beach found her husband prostrate on the bathroom floor of their home at No. 15 Kenyon avenue, and the room filled with gas. Medical Examiner French pronounced it a case of suicide. Beach was said to have been despondent of late.

MARLBORO, Aug. 10.—A man who was struck and killed by an electric car on Lakeside avenue last night was today identified as Louis Glault, a former resident of this city, but who has recently lived in Leominster.

Report Teutons Split on Choice of Polish King

By International News Service.

PARIS, Aug. 10.—The Frankfort Gazette states that Germany and Austria are not in accord regarding the proposed kingdom of Poland. Germany would make a Polish prince the King, while Austria wants the throne filled by an Austrian archduke.

The Polish Organ of Exiled Poles say the Germans have no idea of including Posen, Silesia and Eastern Prussia in the new Kingdom of Poland, but simply to constitute a small, quasi-independent state to serve as a buffer against Russia. It adds: "Poland will not allow herself to be reduced by any such promise."

Dispatches received from Lugano, Switz., within the past twenty-four hours stated the Kaiser proposed to make Prince Joachim, his sixth son, King of Poland.

Holyoke Man's Bride and $1700 Missing

NEW YORK, Aug. 10.—Ignats Malinoski, aged fifty-five, a Holyoke Mass., farmer, called at police headquarters today and asked the police to aid him in the search for his bride of ten weeks who disappeared with $1,700, the proceeds from the sale of his farm. Malinoski said that his wife, who is twenty-two years old, wrote a letter to a sister in Holyoke saying she had engaged passage on the steamer Hyndam which was due to sail from Hoboken at noon today for Rotterdam. Malinoski was referred to the Hoboken police.

Ex-President Taft Now a Grandfather

BAR HARBOR, Me., Aug. 10.—Announcement of the arrival of former-President Taft's first grandchild has been made. The child, a boy, was born to Mrs. Robert Taft at her summer home here on Saturday last.

Ex-HarvardOarsman, Nat M. Brigham, Dead

Nat Maynard Brigham, Harvard '80, who in his college days was famous as an oarsman, died suddenly in Hamilton, Q., where he was to deliver a lecture, aged fifty-nine years. He was well known as a lecturer on historical subjects. The funeral will take place Thursday afternoon at the Unitarian Church at Natick.

WILSON PLANS TO MAKE HAITI A MODEL NATION

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10.—The Wilson administration is hopeful that Haiti may be made a model republic. That will be the goal attempted when the new government there is created with the aid of Admiral Caperton, his warships, marines and bluejackets.

Admiral Caperton notified the Navy Department today that he had sent the gunboat Castine to St. Marc, where new Haitien troubles were reported.

The armored cruiser Tennessee, laden with war munitions and carrying 827 marines and 50 officers, has sailed from Philadelphia for Haiti.

The old Haitien army is being disbanded, the troops paid off with money taken from the customs receipts and then sent home. Wandering bands of robbers are being wiped out and their leaders jailed.

Filene's Automatic Bargain BASEMENT

THE AUTOMATIC PLAN—The FIRST price on every lot must be low enough to sell quickly; quickly or part of it must be reduced 25% after 12 selling days, 50% after 18 selling days, 75% after 24 selling days, when away after 30 selling days.

The Why of These Automatic Markdowns

Sometimes we buy and put on sale too many of one thing.
Sometimes it happens that when sizes run small the demand is for large sizes—and vice versa.
Sometimes continued bad weather, as of late, is responsible.
Sometimes bad judgment in buying—the value is there, but the merchandise is not just what is wanted at that time.
The result is even better bargains than first prices contemplated, for the law of automatic price-reducing is never broken.
And they always take place at the same time—8:30 in the morning.

NEW ENGLAND FOR HEARST "NEUTRAL LEAGUE" PLAN

Boston and New England men of diverse and commanding interests are united in indorsement of the AMERICAN'S editorial yesterday urging the United States lead in immediate formation of a league of neutral nations to demand and assure an authoritative definition of neutral rights and the promotion of speedy peace.

Statements of leading men include the following:

GOVERNOR DAVID I. WALSH:

Everybody must agre that some effective method of defining and maintaining neutral right is most desirable. The suggestion that the United States join with other neutral powers in a movement to compel respects for the full rights of neutrals meets with my hearty approval.

MAYOR JAMES M. CURLEY:

I am heartily in favor of Mr. Hearst's demand for a league of neutral nations to define and defend neutral rights on the high seas during the continuation of the European war.

President Wilson has urged that the South American republics join with the United States in an attempt to conserve their mutual rights in Mexico, and there seems to be no sound reason why the same principle should not apply in dealing with the far more imminent dangers arising out of the European situation.

The people of the entire country are behind President Wilson, solidly, in his tentative efforts to conserve the human rights in Mexico, and I believe they will be as strongly in favor of the neutral-nations league advocated by Mr. Hearst, to make possible a further application of the same principle in dealing with European war questions.

This great question of international law cannot be decided by the United States alone. Neither can we safely leave it to the warring nations themselves to determine. The neutral nations, all of them, immediately should be called together to define and defend their neutral rights on the high seas.

JOHN R. MURPHY, chairman Finance Commission:

Put me down emphatically favoring the demand made by Mr. Hearst for the creation of a neutral nations league, whose duty it shall be to determine the rights of neutral nations, as effected by the European war.

This is the most statesmanlike suggestion that I have observed from any source as regards the conservation of neutral rights on the high seas. In addition to being humane and conservative, it is a common sense plan, that goes right to the root of the evil. And what is of equal importance, in defining the rights of neutrals the league proposed by Mr. Hearst will be in an excellent position to help restore peace, too.

HENRY C. ATTWILL, Attorney-General of Massachusetts:

The proposition is one that appeals to me. The just demands of neutrals necessarily will receive more consideration from belligerents when presented by a combination of the neutral countries of the world. The United States being the most powerful or the neutral countries, it would seem that the suggestion for such a combination should come from her.

CONGRESSMAN RICHARD OLNEY, 2ND.:

I made up my mind some time ago not to be interviewed on the war. But in this instance, as to the suggestion in the AMERICAN editorial today that we Americans should unite with the other neutral nations in a common effort to restore the peace of the world, I will say, it is an excellent idea and it has my hearty support.

ATTORNEY JOHN A. COULTHURST, Boston City Councillor:

I don't think that any bad result is possible to accrue from calling together representatives from all neutral nations in an attempt to define their rights, as Mr. Hearst has suggested in the editorial. And there always is the possibility of great good being achieved by such a conference as Mr. Hearst advocates.

DAVID A. ELLIS of the Boston Transit Commission:

I think that the formation of a congress of neutral nations to consider the rights of neutrals is a splendid idea, and the editorial in the AMERICAN today has the nail right on the head. My personal opinion in regard to this matter has always been that we in the AMERICAN states it today. The way things are shaping up now in the great struggle point out to the United States this way as being the only logical solution of the situation.

ANDREW MCANCE, of the firm of Smith & McCance, publishers:

The editorial in Mr. Hearst's newspapers advocating that the United States lead neutrals in demanding their rights, is an excellent suggestion. It seems to me this is the point we want to emphasize more than ever now in the present juncture of affairs. By this means I believe we could achieve much in preventing any extension of the war.

It is worth taking up in some practical way, and if ought to be done at once before other serious complications set in. Such as the these peace societies, of which we have three right here in Boston, should be willing to do more along the lines which Mr. Hearst has so admirably pointed out in his editorial.

LOUIS G. GIROUX, president of American International College, Springfield:

It seems to me that the AMERICANS' suggestion for a league of neutral nations is a timely one. I can see numerous reasons why a league of this sort could denne the rights of neutrals, prevent any extension of the war and assist in bringing peace to war-stricken Europe. The United States is a leading neutral power, should take the initiative.

DANIEL E. LEARY, Springfield attorney:

I suppose this league of neutral nations, as suggested by the AMERICAN, could establish a code of neutral rights which all neutral powers could adopt. This code would be paramount to any precedent which warring nations now present to us as excuses for the acts complained of. The United States, being the strongest of the neutral powers, by seriously presenting this code, would be listened to with respect and consideration, and thus would open the way for peace proposals which would cover our nation with glory and render an everlasting service to humanity.

MAYOR THOMAS F. KEARNS of Waltham:

Ifeel that such a lead as proposed by Mr. Hearst in the editorial of August 9 would be a step in the right direction. Neutrals at home should not suffer because of the war. The United States, largest of the neutrals, should be first to take steps for the protection of the lives and property of the nations at peace.

MAYOR EDWIN O. CHILDS of Newton:

In my estimation the United States is in a unique position. She is the most powerful neutral nation, and as such is in the best position to lend her service toward peace. Neutral countries have suffered far too much during this war, and every effort made to right the wrong meets with my utmost approval. Mr. Hearst's suggestion that the United States should lead in forming a league of neutrals to preserve their rights is an excellent one. It should be indorsed by all Americans.

LOUIS K. LIGGETT, president of the United Drug Company:

I would certainly applaud any movement that will be for its aim the protection of our rights and the rights of other neutral nations, in this terrible war. Any violation of our international rights should not be tolerated. If the warring nations refuse to respect our rights we certainly should take steps to see that they do. Any such movement should be impartial. Germany and England should be treated alike. I understand that the administration is doing all it can to uphold our rights by peaceful methods. If such methods fail, however, others should be tried. I am in favor of any movement that will further secure the rights of neutrals during this war. Without doubt every neutral nation would be glad to join in such a movement with us as a leader.

JOSEPH B. RUSSELL, treasurer Boston Wharf Company:

I most heartily approve of any movement that will put our relations with England and Germany on a more satisfactory basis. In a movement such as the AMERICAN proposes the United States, of course, would be the logical leader. I believe in the freedom of the seas and of America to trade wherever she chooses. I hope some such movement will actually be started. I believe it will greatly help to relieve our present strained relations with both England and Germany. I have no pooh-bah but we, the other, and smaller, neutral nations would gladly join hands with us in any movement of this kind.

PRESIDENT JOSEPH H. O'NEIL of the Federal Trust Company:

The suggestion set forth so ably in the editorial printed in the AMERICAN today that the United States should lead the other neutral nations in a demand for the protection and preservation of the wealth and prosperity of the world, should mark the beginning of a great movement for world peace. The league of the neutral nations would exert enormous influence towards ending the present struggle in Europe. The idea has my hearty approval.

EX-MAYOR JOHN F. FITZGERALD:

I think the idea of a league of neutral nations, as advocated in the AMERICAN'S editorial today is splendid. Somebody has got to end this war. Here are tens of thousands of people being murdered every day on those battlefields and in the air and all for what? That one or the other of those great powers at war may gain some advantage in trade after victory.

Only the other day I saw it that thousands of families have already been literally wiped out of existence by this horrible carnage. It is time we, here in the United States, with our millions and our enormous power and influence, set about a movement going, in league with all the other non-combatant nations, for the restoration of peace, and, as the Hearst editorial says, unite with the South American republics, and with Norway, Sweden, Denmark, Holland, Switzerland and Spain in calling upon the warring nations to stop fighting and by ending all war, "protect and preserve the wealth and prosperity, as well as the peace of the world."

FORMER SECRETARY JAMES F. POWERS of South Boston:

I am heartily in favor of the idea stated in the editorial columns of the Boston AMERICAN in regard to neutral countries. The United States should lead the United States in an effort to bring England and Germany to realize the justness of a demand of this nature and to impress upon them that they, under the same conditions, would insist on their rights.

FIERCE ATTACK REPULSED BY THE FRENCH

By FRANKLIN P. MERRICK,
Special Correspondent of the International News Service.

PARIS, Aug. 10.—Using large quantities of asphyxiating gases, the Germans have been making the most violent attacks against the French positions in the forest of Leprette, upon the eastern rim of the Woevre district.

This information was contained in an official communique issued by the French War Office today.

Despite the severity of the German assaults, all were repulsed by the French artillery, the War Office states.

The text of the communique follows:

"In Artois, to the north of the Souchez station, the Germans launched last night two attacks with petards. They were thrown back into their own trenches by our fire.

"On the Argonne, in the eastern section of the forest, there were a cannonade and rifle firing without any infantry engagement. There was a conflict with bombs and grenades at Vauquois.

"In Lepretre forest the enemy after a violent bombardment made an attack about eight o'clock in the evening on our trenches in the region of Creik des Garmes. He was stopped by our curtains of fire. In the night a new attack accompanied by a bombardment with shells containing asphyxiating gas was likewise broken up by our artillery.

"In Lorraine a reconnaissance directed by the enemy against the station and the mill was easily repulsed.

"The night was quiet in the Vosges."

Drought in Canada.

BANGOR, Me., Aug. 10.—Timber explorers recently returned from the Province of Quebec say that the ground in that part of Canada is dry as dust to the depth of four or five inches, and that farm crops there have suffered as much from lack of rain as Maine crops have suffered from an excess of moisture.

HUB'S MILITARY PARTY DESCENDS ON PLATTSBURG

PLATTSBURG, N. Y., Aug. 10.—Boston's contingent of about 250 citizen soldiers, ranging from bankers and cotillion leaders to wage - earners, who left the Hub last night in a special train for a month of real and regular army training, arrived at the Plattsburg Federal Barracks today in good shape and full of "pep" for citizens' war training.

Arrived also the armored motor train contingent which started over the road from Boston Saturday for the military men.

The Boston special stopped at Lowell, Concord and Nashua, N. H., to take on other New Englanders who found no fit themselves for whatever military necessities time may produce. The idea of this camp is to have regular army officers train the citizens so that the latter may qualify for commissions if a call for volunteers should be issued.

The Boston train arrived at Burlington, Vt., early today and the rest of the journey to camp was completed by a boat trip across Lake Champlain.

At the camp the Bostonians found carloads of New Yorkers, including many men from families of national importance. Among the Manhattanites busy in camp are Mayor Mitchel, Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., Oliver and Adrian Iselin, "Ham" Fish, Jr., John D. Crimmins, Jr., and his brother Clarence, Bradley Martin, Charles Carey Rumsey, former lieutenant - governor Lewis Stuyvesant Chanler, Collector of the Port Dudley Field Malone, Nelson O'Shaughnessy, the celebrated charge d'affaires during the Huerta regime in Mexico, Commissioner Waldo and others more or less notable.

Boston has its quota of widely-known men. In the Hub band are such as George B. Morrison, former president of the Boston Athletic Association, the dean of the Boston party and known to every amateur athlete in the land; Percy D. Haughton of Harvard football fame, President Arthur L. Spaulding of the New England Telegraph and Telephone Company, Assistant Attorney Thomas D. Lavelle, W. A. Barron, Jr., the well-known athlete, J. W. Farley, attorney; Andrew Marshall, former Assistant Attorney-General of Massachusetts, and an athlete of both Dartmouth and Harvard; Arthur S. Pier, the author; "Frank" Carroll, attorney and once acting fire commissioner of Boston; "Reggie" Foster, the Harvard sprinter; George H. Lyman, Jr., son of the collector of the port of Boston; Norman W. Cabot, the Harvard, '93, football captain; R. B. Wigglesworth, the former Harvard quarterback; Fred H. Prince, the aviator, and others who have made names for themselves in sport, business and the professions.

Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., in the uniform of a guardsman in camp at Plattsburg, N. Y. He is walking briskly, in the Roosevelt stride, toward his tent.

CHECK TEUTONS IN BIG BATTLE IN FLANDERS

By International News Service.

LONDON, Aug. 10.—The heaviest fighting since the second "battle of Ypres last Spring is now in progress in West Flanders.

The roar of big guns on the Ypres-Dixmude line has been incessant since Sunday and there has been a steady stream of German wounded passing through Thielt, Ghent and Bruges.

Following a severe bombardment the Germans tried to attack all along the line, but the fire of the British, French and Belgian guns cut the Teutonic offensive short.

Following the capture of 1,200 yards of trenches by the British in the vicinity of Hooge, east of Ypres, the Germans tried ineffectually to regain their lost ground, using asphyxiating fumes and heavy artillery. The battle still continues east of Ypres and along the Ypres canal and the Yser river.

Lloyd-George and Kitchener Break

By International News Service.

NEW YORK, Aug. 10.—Mail advices from London give a further hint of the strained relations existing between Lord Kitchener, Minister of War, and David Lloyd George, Minister of Munitions.

Sir Percy Girouard, who was called to the Munitions Department soon after it was formed, has been dismissed by Lloyd George on the ground that he did not prove equal to the tasks assigned to him.

Sir Percy Girouard went to the Munitions Department as the personal friend of Lord Kitchener from the directorship of the great Armstrong gun shipbuilding and armor-making firm. At the time Lloyd George accepted his arrival with a public expression of thanks made in the House of Commons.

Little news has passed the censor in regard to the evident strain existing between the head of the Munitions Department and Lord Kitchener

NEW YORK, Aug. 10.—The first direct shipment of gold in large quantity from England to this country since the war began is on its way by train to New York from Halifax, N. S.

The value of the shipment is believed to be $100,000,000. This importation will be deposited to the account of J. P. Morgan and Company, fiscal agents of the British government.

Italy Moves for War With Turkey

ATHENS, Aug. 10.—All Italian Consuls are preparing to depart, according to reliable advices from Constantinople. They have turned over their duties to neutral officials. Their chief American Consuls immediately following their departure it is expected that war between Italy and Turkey will be declared. Italian troops will then join the allies at the Dardanelles.

Italy to Humble Kaiser and Sultan

By International News Service.

PARIS, Aug. 10.—The Rome correspondent of the Petit Journal quotes a member of the Italian government as saying: "As soon as the attitude of the Balkan states, now neutral, is definitely determined we shall take radical measures against Turkey. Italy is resolved to wipe out German militarism and then bring the rulers of Germany and Turkey to their knees."

VOL. I. BOSTON, 10 AGOSTO, 1915. NO. 12.

Comunicato Ridicolo

Roma, 10 agosto. — I Teutoni asseriscono, secondo il communicato del Comando italiano che il motto in ridicolo che gli italiani abbiano perduto, durante la presente guerra, 200,000 uomini.

I giornali italiani contraddicono la notizia austro-tedesca, dicono che la falsita di essa e' allo scopo di diminuire la potenza guerriera in modo da scongiurare il loro intervento nel presente conflitto.

GLI AUSTRIACI A MONFALCONE

Si sa da Roma che gli austriaci, a mezzo di bombe gettate dai loro aeroplani, han tentato di bruciare i depositi carbone navale di Monfalcone. Le bombe pero' furono subito rettinte dagli Italiani.

IL PAPA PER L'ARMISTIZIO

Si ha da Berlino che il Papa ha intimato ai cattolici di tutti i paesi una lettera esprimente il suo desiderio per i terribili orrori della guerra devastanti dalla invasione russa. La lettera era accompagnata da una larga somma per sussidiare le vittime.

MILANO, 10 Agosto.—La caduta di Gorizia e' ormai considerata prossima. Le sue difese sono state completamente distrutte dai vigorosi attacchi degli Italiani, culminati da cinque ore continue di attacchi di artiglieria e fanteria.

Molte batterie Austriache sono state smantellate, e dopo un attacco finale della fanteria Italiana, le truppe Austriache si sono ritirate verso la citta', lasciando 2,000 morti 5000 prigionieri.

Coloro che sono scappati dalla citta' dicono che le condizioni, la', sono terribili; vi mancano quasi completamente i viveri. L'artiglieria Italiana non ha permesso che dei rifornimenti di viveri e di munizioni passassero senza essere prima annientati dal suo fuoco.

I magazzini militari sono

SECONDO VIENNA.

Il Comando militare austriaco comunica che tutti gli attacchi italiani sono stati respinti su tutto il fronte.

PORTANO I CANNONI A 10,000 PIEDI DI ALTEZZA.

Le artiglierie italiane, allo scopo di assicurare delle trincee austriache, furono portate sul monte Krevavallo ad un' altezza di 10,000 piedi!

650,000 SOLDATI PRONTI.

L'Italia ha 650,000 soldati pronti ad entrare in azione, oltre a quelli che lottano contro l'Austria. Essi possono essere destinati a passare in Francia, in aiuto del Francesi, o, in parte, per aiutare gli Alleati ai Dardanelli. 100,000 sono fermi a Torino; 150,000 sono a Taranto.

ONE KILLED AND MANY INJURED IN STORM

Lightning, rain and hail ravaged Boston and New England yesterday afternoon, and the reports coming in today showed widespread damage.

One life was lost. At least a score of persons were struck and stunned. Perhaps fifty houses and other buildings were struck. Crops were damaged, streets were flooded, car lines were blocked.

Lightning zipped out light and power wires. Street car traffic suffered. Many cars were struck and in one case lightning played in vivid flashes about the front of the car till the passengers preferred to jump out into the rain and take their chances.

The total damage in New England will undoubtedly reach $100,000. The tobacco crop in Connecticut and Massachusetts is suffered to the extent of $50,000, according to estimates.

Freakish occurrences were plentiful. Serious damage from lightning occurred in few cases, however.

Lightning killed 1,200 children as a moving picture show in the Home Theatre on Glendale square went into a panic when lightning cut off the electric lights. Manager F. E. Owen stemmed a dangerous panic with difficulty.

The rainfall in Boston was .60 of an inch. The heaviest New England rainfall was at Laconia, N. H., where in forty-five minutes three inches fell.

Laconia was hit hard by the storm and the only death occurred in the Lakeport section, where a colt killed Mrs. Edward Giguere.

In the vicinity of Boston the most spectacular damage was the explosion of a powder mill at Maynard, when it was struck by lightning. This was the blasting mill of the American Powder Company. The damage was about $3,500. The explosion was heard for many miles around. There were no casualties, as the workmen had all left the mills when the thunder storm began.

A fire was caused in Boston when lightning struck the bakery of Hyman Cohen at No. 8 Wall street, North End. The damage was slight. Another fire occurred in South Boston when lightning struck a tank of pitch in the yard of the Boston Beer Company at West Second and D streets. The damage here was $1,500.

Wakefield's light and power service was cut off and every factory in town shut down. The home of Miss Mary Shepard on Park avenue was struck.

The home of Mrs. Elmer May at 177 Washington street, Glenwood, was struck, and a fire was started, but it was easily controlled.

Preparazioni Della Rumania

Si ha da Milano che la Rumania ha chiamato sotto le armi tre classi di riserva in piu' di quanto fece nella guerra del 1912.

La Serbia dice un telegramma da Cettigne, aspetta delle comunicazioni dalla Russia prima che rinizi la sua campagna.

La caduta di Gorizia potra', forse, far iniziare una campagna combinata dell' Italia, Serbia, Montenegro e Russia.

LA RUMENIA RESPINGE LE PROPOSTE TEDESCHE

Si ha da Bukarest che la proposta fatta dal governo tedesco alla Rumania, a mezzo di un rappresentante della compagnia Krupp, dell'offerta cioe', a detta nazione, di 36 batterie di artiglieria a 2,000,000 libbre di esplosivi, in compenso del permesso di lasciar passare dei convogli di munizioni per la Turchia, e' stata recisamente respinta. Cio' fu determinato specialmente per l'intervento del Ministro Plenipotenziario Inglese.

U. S. REFUSES TO JOIN SWEDEN IN PROTEST

By International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10.—The United States will not join with Sweden in the battle for the freedom of the seas. The suggestion by Sweden that a way might be reached whereby the neutrals could combine on protests has been rejected, at least for the present. The real reason, although not the one openly assigned, is said to have been the fear that any such combination at this time would be misinterpreted in this country and be criticised as an aid to the European allies.

Meanwhile the American note to Great Britain and the reply to Germany in the Frye cases are hanging fire until the President returns, probably on Friday. The American people is still far from completed, as the President is being more and more impressed, officials intimate, by the general demand that it strongly emphasize the rejection of every single British claim. So far as the Frye case is concerned it is expected that this government will agree to arbitrate.

Although plans have not been completed, there are prospects of an early meeting here of New England legislators, officials and cotton growers. This convention, if held, will be one of many called to protest against British restrictions now crippling commerce.

German Papers Give England War Blame

By International News Service.

BERLIN, via wireless, Aug. 10.—The Vossische Zeitung and the Berliner Tageblatt comment upon the latest official publication of the Belgian archive documents which, they declare, prove that England systematically prepared for the great war by drawing closer into diplomatic cobwebs around Germany, frustrating all attempts of the German Emperor and the government to maintain peace.

ITALIANS SMASH DEFENCES OF GORIZIA

By ANDRE BEAUMONT.
Boston American and London Daily Telegraph Exclusive Cable Service.

MILAN, Aug. 10.—The fall of Gorizia is now considered a matter of only a few days. Its defences have almost been swept away by the vigorous attacks of the Italians, culminating in a five hours' artillery and infantry attack.

Many of the Austrian batteries have been silenced and, after a final bayonet attack the Austrian troops have retired toward the town, leaving 2,000 dead and 800 prisoners. The damage within the town was enormous, the streets being littered with wreckage.

Refugees describe conditions in Gorizia as terrible. Living conditions are desperate. The Italian artillery fire prevents the arrival of supplies and the population is reduced from 40,000 to 10,000.

Lawlessness is rampant. The municipal stores and warehouses are empty. All have burned the citizen's residence in the hope of obtaining wheat. Bread is scarce and meat unobtainable.

The Italian centre at Carso continues to advance. Although no large mass engagements have taken place, steady, hard, stubborn fighting has been going on.

The Italian extreme positions at Doberdo are seven miles further east than a month or five weeks ago.

LABOR FIGHT ON WAR POLICY OF WILSON

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10.—The break between Representative Buchanan of Illinois and Presidential Secretary Tumulty may result in a sharp fight within the ranks of organized labor. Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, is opposed to the work of "labor's peace church," which Buchanan represented when he applied for the interview with President Wilson which was refused.

Gompers has had the ear of the White House at all times in the past and friends of Buchanan here declare that they will carry the Gompers opposition before the next convention of the American Federation of Labor, insisting that labor is unalterably opposed to war and that in opposing Buchanan and his associates Gompers does not represent the real feeling in labor circles.

Gompers, they declare, was born in England and his sympathies naturally are with the allies.

This, however, Gompers emphatically denies and he declares that he has been neutral himself and the A. F. of L. has been neutral at all times since the war began.

Meanwhile, Buchanan and his friends are preparing to make a strong fight on the administration because it declined to receive their opinions. The first move is to be an open letter reviewing the situation. Then the organization will try to amalgamate all labor organizations, farmers' organizations and the like to push through Congress, in defiance of the administration, an embargo resolution directed against all munition exports.

HOW TO REDUCE YOUR WEIGHT

A SIMPLE, SAFE AND RELIABLE WAY.

People who are over-burdened with superfluous fat, know only too well the discomfort and ridicule that overstout people have to bear.

If you are carrying around five or ten pounds of unhealthy fat you are unnecessarily weakening your vital organs and are carrying a burden which destroys the beauty of your figure.

There is no need of anyone suffering from superfluous fat. If you want to reduce your weight in a simple, safe and reliable way, without starvation diet or tiresome exercise, spend as much time as you can in the open air, breathe deeply and get from any good druggist a box of oil of korein capsules; take one after each meal and one before retiring at night.

Weigh yourself once a week so as to know just how fast you are losing weight and don't leave off the treatment or even skip a single dose until you are down to normal.

Oil of korein is absolutely harmless, is pleasant to take, helps digestion and is designed to consume the excessive fatty tissue by increasing the oxygen-carrying power of the blood. Even a few days treatment should show a noticeable reduction in weight, footsteps become lighter, your work seems easier and a lighter and more buoyant feeling take possession of your whole being.

Every person who suffers from superfluous fat should give this treatment a trial, there is nothing better.

RINDGE GIRLS BASEBALL CHAMPIONS

Capture "Pennant" in Cambridge Playground League; Defeated in Only One Game.

Well, here they are—the first real "champs" of the 1915 baseball season!

Girls, sure enough, but the best looking team you've seen thus far, at that.

Right, eh?

(If in doubt, see pictures.)

They're the Rindge Field Playground Girls, of North Cambridge, winners in the Cambridge playground League, an organization composed of young women ball-tossers.

Out of eight games played, the Rindge girls won seven, their claim on the pennant never once being threatened. The one game they lost was to the Thorndike Field Girls, by whom they were defeated 4 to 7. This defeat they later retrieved when they beat the Thorndikes 12 to 8 in a return match.

The team was captained by Dorothy "Ty" Cobb, whose cleverness as a "box artist" contributed much toward the team's success. Miss Cobb acquired her sobriquet of "Ty" through her ability to hit the ball almost as well as her illustrious namesake.

Ethel Igo, the catcher, acquitted herself like a regular "big leaguer," her base throwing being a feature of every game. She led the league in base stealing and ranked high as a run-getter.

On the bases, Gertrude Henry, Theresa Duncan and Dorothy Hanna covered more ground than a street parade, all of them handling with throws and foot lineups as if they were a lot of hairpins. There was nothing got by them from the latest piece of gossip to the newest style of coiffeur.

Ella Sullivan, as shortstop, proved herself one of the cleverest players on the team. She assisted in many fast double plays and executed a few of them unaided.

The outfielders were Germaine Hetu, Grace Aylward and Mabel Jean. The substitutes were Eleanor McGowan and Gladys Morgan. The team's mascot was little Miss Geraldine Ring.

The team was managed by Miss Agatha Aylward, the latter is now trying to arrange a series of post-season games with other girl teams.

At the top, swinging the bat, Dorothy Hanna, third baseman. The young lady just about to catch the ball is Gertrude Henry, first baseman. Below, reading from left to right, appear Dorothy Hanna again, Dorothy "Ty" Cobb, pitcher; Gladys Morgan, Eleanor McGowan, Germaine Hetu, centre fielder; Mabel Jean, left fielder; Gertrude Henry, first baseman; Grace Aylward, right fielder, and Ethel Igo, catcher. The girl with the baseball and hat in the centre is Geraldine Ring, the mascot.

Battery Service Trucking

Takes everything mysterious out of the Storage Battery and the Electric Truck

The Battery Service System of the General Vehicle Company, Inc. makes it possible to move raw material and merchandise with certainty and at minimum costs—far under horse costs.

Buy your G. V. Electric now and the Edison Electric Illuminating Company of Boston will garage, wash and oil it at a flat rate per month. In addition, they will supply you fresh batteries as often as needed, charging you for the miles your odometer registers, also at a flat rate per mile per month.

The more mileage per day the lower the rate per car mile.

The Edison Company buys the battery and you buy the miles. In buying your G. V. chassis without battery you save from 20 to 38 per cent. The Battery Service System supplied by a giant public utility company insures you dependability of service—enables you to figure in advance just what your operating costs will be per mile, per month or per year.

Twenty-five firms use 1,116 G. V. Electrics; 804 firms use about 5,000. Seven cities, four of them in New England have adopted the Battery Service System. Can you afford to buy horses at war prices and compete with electricity?

BIG WILMERDING MARRIAGE OFF; QUIETLY WED

Boston and Cambridge friends of Miss Katherine Fay Wilmerding of New York, who are planning to attend her wedding at the home of her aunt, Mrs. Theodore Thomas, No. 2 Willard court, Cambridge, next October, need not make any elaborate preparations for the event.

For there isn't going to be any such wedding next October.

It's a hasty betrothal in New York, and suddenly. So suddenly that only the bride and her fiance, the enterprising Lowell Ross Burch of New York, were in the arrangements.

Despatches today from New York related the quiet bridal of Miss Wilmerding and Mr. Burch, all because Mr. Burch had to go on a long journey, and he simply wouldn't be separated from the girl whose heart he had won.

WED AT CITY HALL.

The bride is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Henry Wilmerding, of No. 64 West Ninety-first street, Manhattan, with summer place at Flushing, L. I. Her mother was Lily V. Fay, sister of Mrs. Theodore Thomas of Cambridge, who was Rose Fay.

Miss Wilmerding is twenty years old. Since she came out two years ago she has passed much time abroad. She has many friends in Boston and Cambridge society, whom she met on visits here to her aunt, Mrs. Thomas.

On June 27 last, her engagement to Lowell Ross Burch was announced. Mr. Burch is twenty-six years old and is president of the Burch-Kane Company of New York, a manufacturing corporation with offices at No. 39 Broadway.

It was also announced that the wedding in October would take place at the home of the bride's aunt in Cambridge, possibly on account of the protracted illness of the father of the bride-elect.

Cambridge friends of Miss Wilmerding were delighted at the prospect of a pretty Autumn bridal. But business and Mr. Burch changed all this.

Mr. Burch found it suddenly necessary to make a trip for his house, one covering the entire country. That would mean weeks of separation from his fiancee.

Mr. Burch telephoned Miss Wilmerding to meet him yesterday. She met him. He persuaded her to give up the elaborate wedding in October, to accompany him right then and there to New York City Hall and to be married by an alderman.

WROTE PRIVATE LETTER.

Then they telephoned their parents and were given a bit of a scolding and a wedding breakfast at the Flushing home of the bride's sister, Mrs. William Roell Sprague.

The bride also had to write a penitent letter, explaining matters to her aunt, Mrs. Thomas. The latter's home could not be reached by telephone this morning. Probably Mrs. Thomas is at her Summer place, Felsengarten, at Bethlehem, N. H.

President Aids Auto Victims Who Didn't Know Him

CORNISH, N. H., Aug. 10.—Three automobilists were pinned under their machine when it ran over an embankment and capsized near here. Another machine came along, halted, and two men ran down the bank and helped free those in misfortune.

One of the men evidently a doctor, looked them over and saw they had escaped with bruises. The rescued thanked the rescuers fervently. Just then another machine appeared with other men, and the first two rescuers departed.

It was only then that the rescued learned their benefactors had been President Wilson and Dr. Cary T. Grayson. The secret service man—in the last machine to arrive—took the rescued to Windsor and sent a wrecking crew to release the car.

The rescued were C. C. Judd, Mass.; C. A. Veasey and Mrs. Emma Hathaway of Norwich, Vt.

Clinton Man Dies at 104; Saw Lafayette

CLINTON, Aug. 10.—Richard Kimball Powers, 104, died today at the home of his daughter-in-law, Mrs. George K. Powers. He was a native of Sterling, and when fourteen years of age saw Lafayette when the latter came to Sterling. Mr. Powers had voted in twenty-one presidential elections.

GOOD NEWS FOR THE DEAF

If you are losing your hearing—if you are troubled with buzzing and ringing in the ears—if you find that your nostrils are clogged—if you hawk and spit in the morning—if you have given up hopes of finding relief, just go to Riker-Jaynes, or any other drug store, and purchase one ounce of Fluid Enserol. Mix this with one quart of warm water. Put two drops in the affected ear every night. Put one tablespoonful in a fourth of a glass of warm water and gargle throat and snuff up nose night and morning. Keep this up for a few weeks and test your hearing and you will be pleased to note the improvement. You will also, no doubt, discover that your catarrh has disappeared and head noises gone.

Associate Justice Thomas P. Riley of Malden District Court issued an ultimatum from the bench today to the effect that they can't "pull that Everett row" over on his court.

It was the case of Alderman John J. Mullen of Everett against Alderman Fred C. Hanson of the same city. Mullen accuses Hanson of assault and battery at an aldermanic executive meeting last week.

At today's hearing Hanson was absent on account of illness. But Judge Riley was present in his regular vigor of thought and speech such as so often marked him as chairman of the Democratic State Committee.

Hanson's lawyer showed a doctor's certificate that Hanson has grippe. So the case was continued to August 17.

Police Chief Bill of Everett, the lawyers and the judge talked at the bench a few minutes. Then His Honor said:

"I will not let the plaintiff or defendant pull that Everett row over on this court. I am not going to have that Everett stuff put over on me, no matter who is responsible. All I will hear is the one issue of assault and battery."

The Judge added that each side would be limited to three witnesses.

Harry Davis Going North On Vacation

Harry Davis, Connie Mack's right-hand man, passed through Boston today on his way to Maine, where he intends to spend ten days or two weeks fishing and hunting. Davis, like Connie Mack, Ben Houser and Mackey himself, is a fan of the sporting kind.

Houser has a cabin, and Mack has invited Davis for the Devens fight now, as Connie cannot go to Chicago where the Athletics land this Summer, gave Harry permission to go North and have a good time.

"Connie is laying off this Summer," states Davis. "He has known all along this wasn't going to be his year, so he refuses to worry. He has a big budget of mighty good-looking broilers and Connie will have another winner a whole lot quicker than a lot of wise guys think."

CHICAGO, Aug. 10.—Now that the league season is nearing its close, interest is centered on the individual batting averages. Following are the batsmen who have participated in enough games to qualify:

"THE RABBITS' COLUMN" By Walter J. Maranville HORTSTOP OF THE BRAVES

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 10.—I don't believe all you hear about our hitting indifferent ball out here. But if, at times, we show a slack lack of zing in St. Louis, please blame it on the weather.

Say, did you ever spend a Summer in St. Louis? No? Well, it must be something awful. I don't see how a St. Louis team could possibly win a National League pennant. If ever a St. Louis team does win it, the team will have to be about 35 per cent. stronger than the other teams.

Why?

On account of the weather. The heat is something terrific at times. I haven't been in the big league long, but there have been days, or rather nights, I have put in here when I couldn't sleep for the heat.

And how a team that has to play seventy-seven games here can stand it is beyond my comprehension.

• • •

I don't want my friends to become discouraged because we are now finishing a terrific trip. We will be home one week from tomorrow for only eighteen days or so on our own grounds, ought to show something worth while.

Remember, we are only three and one-half games behind the leaders, right now. Our trip hasn't been particularly successful. Not look at the Phillies!

• • •

It seems more than strange to see Charlie Dooin on the same team controlled by Jawn J. McGraw for if ever there were two warlike adversaries in baseball, those two were McGraw and Dooin.

John, at the time when Ad Brennan took that punch at his features, accused Dooin of putting Brennan up to the trick—and Carisno never made any strenuous denials. There was always an Al scrap certified when McGraw and Dooin got together.

And yet—we now find Dooin with the Giants, as nobody had ever expected, and apparently getting along perfectly well with his old-time enemy.

• • •

Pete Schneider, the big, quiet-mannered pitcher of the Reds, is one of the season's hard luck hurlers. Though with an eighth-place team, Pete manages to win right along, as many games as he loses. What might Schneider do with a first division club?

Schneider is a tall right-hander, with a great burst of speed—the catchers say not three men in the National League have any more steam—a good, quick-breaking curve, and unusual batting power for a pitcher. He is an iron man, willing to work any number of innings, and recently essayed the feat of pitching a double-header.

Pete got away with the first game, and only retired from the second struggle when errors had made his position untenable against the enemy. In another year the big fellow ought to rank away up.

• • •

Schulz of Brooklyn delivered five pinch hits in nine attempts, and is batting well over .300. Naturally, the question arises: Why doth not Schulz, a third baser by trade, play each day instead of Getz, with an average of .229?

Schulz, it seems, has a disabled arm. He was spiked, early in the season; the arm long since healed, but some ligament must have been injured, for he cannot throw across the diamond. Brooklyn will soon bite for the sake of the batting, and will trust to luck for his arm to regain its power.

• • •

The players on the Phillies are in a good position at any to get a slant at the pennant race and estimate the strength of the various clubs.

They say it will be a fight between themselves and the Braves, but not one of them will predict that the Phils are going to win. They give Brooklyn and Chicago honorable mention and say they expect the hottest fight the old league has seen in a long time.

"If we win we will have to beat Boston," said Bill Killifer, the lone armed catcher, in a discussion of the outlook. "Your club seems to have hit a good stride and is getting better pitching than earlier in the season. Dick Rudolph is going fine and he's a tough one to beat."

Brooklyn was suggested as a contender.

"Brooklyn looked dangerous when it was winning so many games at home," said Grover Alexander, the Phil pitching mainstay, "but we figured they would drop when they hit the road. Our dope was right. The Western clubs have put a crimp in their chances.

"Chicago has a good looking club, but has been handicapped with players getting crippled. We know what that means. We had our fill of that two or three seasons."

Pat Moran, Phil manager, broke into the confab. "By jiminy, they all look good sometimes," he said. "We've found we can't let up a minute. It's a case of go as fast as you can all the way. Boston is getting better batting and the club is hitting. That's the most bothersome club, I think, but the rest of 'em can't be overlooked."

Ben Niehoff, the second sacker, just about gave the consensus of opinion among the Phil players, when he said: "We look to have a chance, but you can't tell. There's only one thing certain about this thing and that is we're out there every day trying to win, and if we win more than the other fellows, that'll be the answer."

• • •

It has been fourteen years since a National League batsman hit above .400. And this entry was Napoleon Lajoie, back with the Phillies in 1901. Larry left the Phillies after that, and the only two men since who have batted above .400 in any major league are Cobb and Jackson.

Jackson and Cobb both beat the mark in 1911, and Cobb repeated in 1912. The star Tiger slipped back in 1913 and 1914, but he is giving the super-average another hand-to-hand conflict this season.

Harrisburg Secures Low.

Fletcher Low, Dartmouth's former baseball star, who joined the Braves a month ago, has been released to the Harrisburg (International League) club by Manager Stallings. Low, a shortstop of rare promise, joined Harrisburg in Providence today.

*Rain, postponed or no game.

TWO BOUTS BILLED WITH BROWNLEGS

By A. H. C. MITCHELL.

Rain killed one of the games at Fenway Park yesterday. The postponed game, however, will be played off this afternoon, giving the "fans" another double bill for the price of one. It is to be hoped that the weather will not butt in, as Our Boys are going well just now and the Browns look comparatively soft.

Uncle Bill Carrigan is fighting for everything in sight and so are the players under him. There is considerable of a strain on a team that is leading the league. The boys, however, are beginning to see visions of the pennant and (what is more to the point) they are beginning see some of that World's Series money. Doubtless they will deny this last statement if you ask them, but the denial will only be in the line of diplomacy.

Carrigan will probably send Shore and Ruth after the pair of games this afternoon. If they pitch to form there ought to be a double victory for the Sox. Ruth doesn't know much about the art of pitching, but he can hit to beat the band.

Jones and Buttermilk—I should say Landermilk—will probably pitch the two games for the Browns. They but the rest of 'em can't be overlooked.

Ben Niehoff, the second sacker, just about gave the consensus of opinion among the Phil players, when he said: "We look to have a chance, but you can't tell. There's only one thing certain about this thing and that is we're out there every day trying to win, and if we win more than the other fellows, that'll be the answer."

Gilmore Prohibits Use of "Mud Ball"

CHICAGO, Aug. 10.—Use of the "mud ball," successor to the emery ball, was prohibited in the Federal League on orders issued from President Gilmore's office here under penalty of $50 fine.

In addition a ruling that the umpires must rub the gloss off all new balls before putting them in play was included and the use of a sponge, wet handkerchief or other articles to aid in moistening the balls was interdicted.

Yanks Ask Waivers on Catcher Sweeney

NEW YORK, Aug. 10.—The Yankees have asked for waivers on Ed Sweeney, the veteran catcher of the American League clubs waive Sweeney may go to some International League team. The Yankees have added another new pitcher to their staff. He is Cliff Markle of the Waco team of the Texas League. He has struck out more men than any other pitcher in the league.

Cutshaw Ties World Record for Hitting

CHICAGO, Aug. 10.—In the slugging match Brooklyn played against the Cubs yesterday, George Cutshaw, the Dodgers' second baseman, tied the world's record held by Clarence Beaumont of Pittsburgh, by making six consecutive hits in as many times at bat.

Five Rookies with Rickey.

Evers to Stick; Was Fidgety, but All Right Again

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 10.—Johnny Evers, captain of the Braves, said today when seen by the AMERICAN'S correspondent:

"I have not heard from President Gaffney, but I feel much better today and believe I will stick it out. When I reached St. Louis Sunday morning I was ready to give up the game for good.

"A fellow doesn't want to do anything when his health handicaps him and I have been nervous and fidgety. I wanted to quit, but, of course, would not give up until I heard from Mr. Gaffney.

"I intend staying with the club and believe I will pick up in weight when I get back home where the weather is much cooler than out West."

New York Y. C. Races Being Held Today

GLOUCESTER, Aug. 10.—The races of the New York Yacht Club from here to Marblehead, postponed from yesterday on account of the fog, are being held today.

The course is twenty-four miles, with Boston Light as its turning point. J. P. Morgan has offered cups to the winners.

RAGAN GOES AFTER CARDINALS TODAY

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 10.—Johnny Evers, the talkative and much-talked-about captain of the Braves, has just benched too good nights' sleep and is no longer cross and irritable. As a result he says he has nulled in his retirement story and in with the clan of Stallings until a certain warm spot freezes over—rather, until the Braves have Mr. Tener's genialon wrapped up.

The Braves feel mighty good as a result of getting back to within three and one-half games of the pace-making Phillies. They are also happy over the Dodgers' three successive triumphs over the Cubs, as Chicago, more than Brooklyn, is feared by the Boston boys.

"We're back in the running, this time to stick," stated Commander Stallings to the AMERICAN'S correspondent this morning. "Yes, Evers is feeling much better. Guess the heat had him. Maybe John didn't play a corking good game yesterday. Well, we're back on our stride, and I think when we get back home a week from tomorrow our friends in Boston will be satisfied with our position in the race."

The indications are that Pat Ragan, who came to grief in such a hurry in Sunday's matinee at Robison Field, will be sent back to the firing line today. Stallings says it looks like the Don and that he will surely use him providing he warms up properly. Otherwise Davis or Hughes will be trotted out.

That will mean Southpaw Tyler, always a winner here, in the getaway game tomorrow. Incidentally, the curtain will go up on tomorrow's game at 2 o'clock, instead of 3, so as to allow the Braves to catch an early train for Philadelphia. They open in that city Friday in a series which is bound to spell a lot.

Braves and Hapgood Move.

Business Manager Walter Hapgood of the Braves, superintended the moving of all the club's possessions from Fenway Park to Braves Field yesterday, and today the new offices were formally thrown open.

Fair Vote-Seekers Will Attend Games

The members of the Massachusetts Woman Suffrage Association are to be the guests of President Joseph J. Lannin of the Red Sox at today's double-header at Fenway Park. All the tickets issued for last Friday's contest, prevented by rain, will be honored.

A host of State and city notables are expected to attend. Then, between games, as well as between innings, Miss Margaret Foley will make a number of short announcements to the "fans" in all sections of the yard, delivering her remarks through a megaphone.

Quigley Will Soon Be Back Umpiring

CHICAGO, Aug. 10.—Empire E. C. Quigley of the National League, who was injured painfully when a gas stove exploded in the umpire's quarters at the Cubs' park, was resting easy today and will be back in the game within a week or ten days.

Quigley was preparing to heat water for a bath and had just turned the gas on full force when the explosion occurred. He was hurled the length of the room and rendered unconscious.

Umpire "Hank" O'Day heard the explosion and rushed into the room and turned off the gas. Quigley did not regain consciousness until he was removed to the Cook County Hospital, a block away.

M'VEY IN BOUT WITH SANDY TONIGHT

ATLAS A. A. PROGRAM.

John (Sandy) Ferguson, Chelsea, vs. Sam McVey, California, twelve rounds.

Dave Powers, Malden, vs. Patsy De Luca, North End, eight rounds.

Henry Hall, Boston vs. Joe Brown, South End, six rounds.

Jackie Ware, South Boston vs. Teddy Murphy, West End, six rounds.

By JACK CONWAY.

SANDY FERGUSON, he of "Stubborn Childe" fame, will try and do a little "come back" act this evening. The big fellow is scheduled to battle Sam McVey of California in a twelve-round tussle at the Atlas A. A. It should be some battle.

There will be a big crowd on hand to see the contest. There always is when the Chelsea heavyweight battles. Some of the "fans" will journey to the Arena and root for Ferguson to put over a victory, but the majority of the spectators will probably not be very much grieved if the Chelsea husky is beaten. Ferguson is a local son, and, sad to relate, he never did have a very good batting average in the Popularity League.

McVey has been made a favorite in the betting. This is only natural as he is one of the leading heavyweights performing in the ring today. The writer has watched most of the heavyweights fight, and I rate McVey as one of the best of the lot. Jess Willard would be able to give McVey a hard battle. He would probably beat him in a finish fight, but the former Parisian idol would probably breeze in a winner in a ten or twenty-round contest.

FERGUSON is very confident and believes he will win from McVey. If condition counts for anything Sandy should be able to give a fine account of himself. He has been training for the contest for five weeks and asserts that he is now fighting at top speed every second he is in the ring tonight.

Alex McLean, who formerly managed Ferguson, took a trip out to the Fellows training camp the other day. Here's what he had to say about Sandy:

"Ferguson looks as though he is in the best possible condition. He has been training for five weeks and does not carry any extra flesh. I watched him boxing with his sparring partners and he looked very good to me. He was fast on his feet, while his left hand kept his opponent at bay. When Ferguson was at his best, he was blessed with a wonderful left-hand punch. I do not believe that a heavyweight survived who had a more natural left-hand punch than the Chelsea heavyweight. It was a winner and enabled him to finish in front in many ring battles.

"As I stated before, Sandy's left hand punch looks as good as it ever did. He should be able to make things mighty interesting for McVey. When the latter fought Langford here, he scored repeatedly with a hard left hook. This blow will not be as effective against Ferguson as the latter is much taller than Langford and will be able to block it. Then, too, Sandy's left will keep McVey at bay.

"If Sandy can take a punch still he will give McVey a whale of a battle. But he will have to keep going fast all of the time as McVey is a real fighter and capable of giving a good account of himself against the leading heavyweights in the world. He proved his ability when he held Joe Jeanette to a twelve-round draw at the Atlas Club and then defeated Sam Langford in the same ring a few weeks later."

Lunart and Didier, the two great foreign rivals in the motor-paced game are ready for their $1,000 match race at the Revere cycle track tomorrow evening.

The distance is over the twenty-five mile route and the men will be allowed a mile in case of an accident to either wheels or motors. This was agreed in their former match and the same conditions will hold good tomorrow night.

The men worked out side by side at the beach oval and the small army of fans saw some hot brushes which bid fair to make the second meeting of this pair one of the best races of the entire season.

The two men met some time ago but Didier met with an accident which caused a postponement of the race and Linart was awarded the event. He refused to accept the $1,000 stake which was put up but agreed to a second meeting.

Didier had a try out last Saturday night and after defeating Carman in straight heats declared he was back in form and notified Manager Butler to sign up Linart and the match is on.

In addition to the big match race a special tandem event has been arranged which an interesting card of amateur and professional events will fill out the program.

FOREIGN FLYERS IN CLASH AT REVERE

National Entries Will Close Aug. 20

The National Lawn Tennis Association has sent notice to all club secretaries that the entries for the national championship tournament, which is to be held at the West Side Tennis Club, Forest Hills, L. I., starting August 26, will close August 20, ten days before the event.

The erection of the stands at the West Side club is now well under way and it is likely that the courts will be ready in a couple of weeks. More than half of the reserved seats for the entire tournament have been subscribed for and the tickets will be mailed to the subscribers this week.

No single day tickets will be issued except at the gate on the day of play.

Philadelphia Crew Picks Up and Goes

SPRINGFIELD, Aug. 10.—The Undine B. C. crew of Philadelphia has gone back home, being here just long enough to look over the course of the National regatta. Nothing definite could be learned as to why the Quaker City people left so hastily. The events it is not thought the Undines will return to take part in the races, which open Friday.

Robert Dibble of the Don Rowing Club of Toronto, is here. He will compete in the senior singles, the event which he is the title holder.

McLoughlin Wins on Seabright Courts

SEABRIGHT, N. J., Aug. 10.—Maurice E. McLoughlin played here for the first time and won his match for the Achelis Cup by defeating L. E. Mahan, 6—4, 6—4. Ward Dawson and Harold A. Throckmorton played brilliant tennis and were successful in their matches.

S. H. Voshell, F. C. Inman, T. R. Pell, C. L. Johnston and R. S. Frenches also won their matches and advance into the second round.

INDOOR SPORTS

SIDELIGHTS on SPORTS By A·H·C·Mitchell

AS far as the memory of the oldest baseball inhabitant is to be relied upon, there has been only one balk called on a big league pitcher that hasn't been the storm centre of a big kick on the part of the side making the balk.

The balk over which there was not the slightest protest was the famous one made by "Buck" O'Brien in the world's series of 1912. This balk was so raw that not a member of the Red Sox entered his trap. Besides, they were too dazed.

WEILMAN, the tall, left-handed pitcher of the Browns, pulled balk yesterday and hasn't stopped kicking over it yet. It was in the start of the game and Hooper was on first because Weilman couldn't locate the plate for him.

Weilman went through a slight motion, hesitated an instant and then pitched the ball. "Whole ball" promptly fired a claim and Umpire Bobby Wallace yelled "balk."

WEILMAN, Manager Rickey and Captain Jimmy Austin made a rush at Wallace. The manager and the captain talked so fast that Weilman couldn't get a word in edgeways, so he ran out to second base where Umpire Connolly was standing and tried to illustrate his movement to him. The ease of Natick waved Weilman away without even looking at his goods. Weilman then went back to the plate, but couldn't get near Wallace, so he tried to illustrate the balk to such members of the Boston team as were standing around, but they all laughed him off.

HOW those Tigers hang on. Doggone 'em.

THE Browns put up quite a fight but most of the warfare was directed at the umps, who, they claim, were allied with the Red Sox. As a result of their kicking early in the game, forty-five minutes were required to play two innings.

WALLACE, who officiated behind the plate, seemed to be uncertain at several stages and allowed Umpire Brown a lot of leeway. Of course, Bobby was a member of the St. Louis team for many years and only recently left that organization to become an umpire. He knows the St. Louis players as he would know a brother and doubtless hesitates in disciplining them.

STILL, Robert, we fans would like the fumes run off with a little more speed, and unless you give your former teammates a "call" we will be all night working off the next double-header.

KOOB pitched the eighth inning for the Browns. Woolfie, the megaphone man, nicknamed him as "Cobb."

You may be right, at that, Woolfie. Who knows?

THE Braves set back a little of their lost ground yesterday.

IN the history of the National League was there ever such a race as is being fought out this season?

Three and one-half games separate the first team from the sixth team!

IT is possible, within the week, for the leading club to drop into sixth place and it is possible for the sixth team to lead the race before baked beans night comes around again.

"THE GODDESS"

By GOUVERNEUR MORRIS and CHARLES W. GODDARD

By Gouverneur Morris and Charles W. Goddard

Copyright, 1915, by the Star Company.

IN this island retreat, open and ready for the master the year round, the triumvirate, if only they could reach it, would be as safe from mob violence as on a ship at sea.

A steep climb, a wild expanse of star-lit moor, little ancient trees growing very close together, a strong perfume of bayberry bushes, of sweet fern and roses, and then the low-ceilinged, softly-lighted hall, with many men servants, a cool, delightful night, soundly slept—these were Celestia's first impression of Gull Island.

In the morning she went with her husband to the eastern cliffs, and she had her first look at the ocean—sullenly tumbling, white-maned—under a gray and sullen sky.

The wind blew in their faces—a cutting, wet wind, the beginning of an easterly storm.

In short, it was about as nasty a morning as you could ask for. But to Celestia and Tommy the weather seemed heavenly, and especially manufactured for lovers and love-making.

Soon after Tommy's departure, and before the triumvirate could complete their arrangements for the retreat to Gull Island, the streets contingent to Gordon Barclay's house and the streets in the neighborhood began to fill with men and women, who looked like the dregs of the city.

But it was immediately in front of the house that the crowd was thickest and most menacing. Here men made fiery, unbridled speeches that were cheered to the echo, and here the police, erect, unperturbed, superb in danger, wondered in their hearts if they were going to live through the day.

There was no actual violence until Gunsdorf arrived. He, high above the crowd on an improvised rostrum, roared for blood and vengeance.

Weapons began to flash.

Then the police tried to disperse the mob, and, after hard fighting, and the breaking of many heads, were overpowered, passed over and swept aside. Then the crowd began to swarm over the tall iron gates and the spiked iron fence. One man slipped, and so impaled himself that when he finally tore loose and dropped to the ground he was dying.

There was a fountain—a bronze youth, arms akimbo, who with puffed cheeks blew a fine spray of water. Him certain stray violent men pried from his base and used, swinging him by the feet and arms, to batter down the solid, heavy front door of the house.

This done, the leaders rushed in, and for a moment were halted by the uncompromising dignity and grandeur of the hall. Facing them was a flight of marble steps. At the top of these stood Gordon Barclay. When the crowd recognized him they yelled like a pack of wolves.

He turned slowly and passed with a kind of glassy contempt

Barclay, in terror, phones to have his car ready through a doorway that was just behind him, slammed the door shut and locked it. Not till then did he show a sign of fear or haste. Now, however, he ran swiftly through the library, stopped at the telephone, hurriedly called to the servants below to have his car ready to start, and fled, followed by Semmes, down a back stairway to the yard.

Here, headed for tall wooden gates in a tall brick wall, over which wisteria was festooned, stood a powerful car. The engine was purring. On the box sat two brave and handsome young men in the Barclay livery.

In the body of the car sat Sturtevant, furiously. Semmes jumped in, looking seasick.

At the gates stood two footmen ready to fling them open. Most of the crowd was at the front of the house. In the narrow alley at the back there was only a scattering of riffraff. One of the men on the box handled a double-barrelled shotgun. In Sturtevant's hand, cocked, was a .45 automatic.

Meanwhile the bronze boy of the fountain came up the front stair, battered head first, and was used to ram down the door behind which Barclay had been seen to disappear.

The first man to enter the long, rich library was Gunsdorf. He gave only a glance at the open panel which disclosed the inviting interior of a safe, or at the green-backs and yellowbacks of all denominations, which the wily financier had scattered about the room, on tables, on chairs, on the floor—such things were for children.

Raging for his comrades to follow him, Gunsdorf rushed the length of the room, found the back stair down which Barclay had retreated, and came in less time than it takes to tell it to the service court at the back of the house.

But nobody followed Gunsdorf. The open safe, the scattered bills, stopped men as a solid cliff might have done. Vengeance was forgotten, and the crowd began to loot.

Their Married Life

Warren Springs a Wonderful Surprise on Helen and Louise

Copyright, 1915, International News Service.

THEY made a regular party of it, with Warren in his very best humor and Bob supplying the fun. Helen had never felt so happy, and Winifred, who was allowed to stay up and partake of the feast as a very special favor, uttered little squeals of rapture every few moments. It was a very happy time and afterward, while Helen was undressing Winifred and getting her bed ready, the others waited in the living room, the men smoking and Louise sorting phonographic records.

"Warren, do you like this 'Aida' record?" she asked, putting it on and starting the motor.

"If Warren is anything like me he isn't much on the opera stuff," said Bob.

"I can stand a little occasionally," said Warren, "but not as a steady diet," and they all listened to the famous duet from the famous opera. Helen came in just as Louise took it off, and before another more popular melody could be substituted Warren looked up and remarked casually,

"Where would you like to go for a vacation, dear? We haven't decided on a place, and Saturday's the day."

"Why, I hadn't thought, Warren. What with Nora leaving and all the different things I have to think of, the vacation problem hasn't bothered me."

"You have been glad to have it happen just now, though; don't tell me you haven't."

"I know, but I thought maybe you wanted to go up to the country; we were both so in love with that place."

Warren grinned. Clearly there was something back of that grin, and they all looked interested.

"What have you got up your sleeve?" questioned Bob lazily.

"Yes, Warren, what is it? Do tell us," from Louise.

Helen said nothing, but looked at Warren eagerly. Was it something, some surprise that she didn't know about? Or was he teasing them? Warren loved to get a rise, as he expressed it, out of Bob.

"If you had to choose a place of all places to spend a month, where would you like to go?" said Warren.

"To the Exposition, of course," said Louise, promptly.

"Yes," said Helen, "it would be perfectly lovely."

"For poor people," announced Bob scathingly, "you and Helen think of the most impossible things to do."

Louise pouted and smiled. "Helen went to Panama," she defended.

"On business," said Bob.

Bob winked at Warren and Warren said grandly:

"Well, if I might be allowed to speak, perhaps I can say something of interest."

There was a silence.

"Yes," prompted Helen.

"Saturday," said Warren, impressively, "we start for the Exposition."

There was a silence and Helen looked from one to the other. Louise looked puzzled and Bob looked very much as though he were trying not to look wise and couldn't quite manage the expression.

"Warren!" gasped Helen.

"Why, Bob," said Louise, "is it a joke?"

"Of course, it's not a joke," said Warren: "we start for the exposition Saturday."

"But we don't," expostulated Louise. "Not Bob and I."

Helen was leaning forward in her chair looking at Warren with shining eyes.

"Warren, is it true? Why, I can't believe it."

The next moment she was on her knees beside his chair, her arms around his neck.

Warren detested demonstrations and squirmed uneasily. Now that the surprise was sprung he wanted to talk rationally about it, though Helen's wet lashes and trembling lips moved him strangely and he felt just a little of the excitement that was evident in her whole expression.

Louise was questioning Bob eagerly. "Well, Helen," she announced dramatically, "did you ever hear anything like it in your life?"

"I can't believe it's true, and I want to cry terribly," quivered Helen.

"Buck up, now," said Warren crisply, "no need of asking how you like the idea. Guess our surprise took all right, eh, Bob?"

"We may have been trying to arrange our vacations together for some time," explained Bob, "and when I found out how crazy Louise was to go to the Exposition, I spoke to Warren about it and we have been planning ever since."

"And you never said a word," said Louise, reproachfully.

"Leave it to a woman," said Warren disgustedly. "Bob wants to plan surprises for you all the time, but if you surprise her she wants to know why you did it."

But Winifred," said Helen, after they had all talked together for some time, "What shall we do with her, dear?"

"Well drop her at your mother's," said Warren, "and call for her on the way back. She'll be all ready."

"But to think," said Helen, "that we four are going together. Why, this year has been a perfect year of surprises."

"And all nice ones," said Louise, "but honestly, I don't really see how I am ever going to get ready."

"We have a whole week," said Bob; "what more do you want?"

"I have never known of anything so perfect," said Helen, squeezing Warren's hand shamelessly, and Warren for once had the grace not to snatch it away.

SHE (Mrs. Jack Sprat shall we call her because she can eat no fat?), the girl who has a nightmare always before her—a double-chin—whose crimson cheeks are too round, whose fingers are dimpled every one, she blundered in her luncheon-invitation, and asked her thin friend to feast with her. Mrs. Jack Sprat is dieting—and lunches on water and crackers. Her thin friend stores chicken pie, French pastry, a bit of red wine, salad, cheese, her beloved cocoa, and a tall glass of whipped cream and delectable things beneath!

"If only," groans Mrs. Jack Sprat, "if only I had asked some one who is fat, too. That reed of a girl can eat like Thanksgiving every day! Torment—I know thy definition."—NELL BRINKLEY.

By peeling a potato ten per cent. of its food value is wasted. The skin is rich in useful mineral matter and the part just beneath the skin—the fibro-vascular layer—contains far more proteid than the inner bulk of the tuber.

No Trouble to Keep Skin Free from Hairs

(The Modern Beauty)

There is no need for any woman to countenance superfluous hairs, because with a paste made by mixing some powdered delatone with water it is easy to get rid of them. The paste is applied for 2 or 3 minutes, then rubbed off and the skin washed. This treatment will rid the skin of hair without leaving a blemish, but care should be taken to see that you get real delatone.—Advertisement.

In Our Wonderful World

The military camera of a Saxon named Maul is carried by a rocket over the landscape which is to be photographed. The rocket, twenty feet long and weighing fifty pounds, is mounted on a special support, which is raised to the degree necessary and aimed by means of sights, and the electrically-ignited powder charge carries the rocket to a height of about two thousand feet. As it turns to fall, exposure is made by an electro-pneumatic shutter, worked by a small battery. Directly afterwards a parachute opens, holds the camera thirty feet above the rocket, and the whole apparatus falls gently to the ground. Very distinct pictures, seven inches square are obtained.

When the military aeroplane is scouting it usually carries two men—the one in the pilot, who runs and steers the craft; the other is the observer, who marks the placing of the hostile troops, the position of their guns, the movement of trains, etc. The observer also makes many sketches of the ground over which he is flying—such that often interfere with his writing notes and memoranda. In certain conditions of flight, too, it is often hard for him to use a pencil and paper. To obviate this difficulty the military aeroplane now frequently carries a phonograph, with a speaking-tube running to the mouth of the observer, so that by talking into the machine at any time during the flight he can record his observations and still have his hands free for his field glass or his sketching pencil.

After a season's strenuous digging in the Red Deer River Canyon of Alberta eight perfect skeletons of extinct carnivorous and herbivorous animals have been discovered, which has hitherto been almost impossible to obtain more than parts of the skeleton of any species. The discovery is looked upon as a scientific event of very considerable importance.

During many months in the year the four or five thousand inhabitants of the isolated Magdalen Islands receive no mail or newspapers, for as the islands lie in the wildest part of the Gulf of St. Lawrence, about fifty miles northeast of Prince Edward Island, it is difficult, if not impossible, to run boats to them during the Winter. So the Canadian government has consequently arranged to send weekly to the clergymen of the islands a wireless dispatch of eight hundred words that gives the latest news of the war and other events. These dispatches the ministers read aloud to the islanders at church every Sunday.

Two French scientists—M. Loir and M. Lecagneux—in an interesting paper, have laid stress on the important part played by fresh vegetables in spreading typhoid. It is well known that the typhoid germ is susceptible to acidity. In wine it rapidly disappears. Dr. Gaillard has also shown that the addition of every kind of alcoholic drink to water results in an almost immediate diminution of the number of microbes. The typhoid germ is more sensitive to wine than to red wine, the former being usually more acid. Authorities have found that twenty grammes of vinegar to a litre of water kills the typhoid germ in an hour and five minutes. This indicates the extreme importance of thoroughly cleansing salads. After washing the salad and detaching each leaf, it should be put into a pail with ten ounces of vinegar to the litre, and remain immersed for about an hour and a quarter. All vegetables even raw might be subjected with advantage to the same process. Meat should be soaked in the same fashion.

What to Use and Avoid On Faces that Perspire

Skin, to be healthy, must breathe. It also must perspire—must expel, through the pores, its share of the body's waste matter. Cold creams and powders clog the pores, interfering both with breathing and perspiring. Stop using them for one week, and you will understand this; there would be fewer self-conscious people. If the above use ordinary unscented wax they would have healthy complexions. This absorbable substance actually absorbs a bad skin, also undergoing the pores. Result: The fresher, younger under-skin is permitted to breathe and to show itself. The exquisite new complexion gradually peeps out, one free from any appearance of artificiality. Obtain an ounce of mercolized wax from your druggist and try it. Apply a little like cold cream at night, a week or two, washing it off mornings. To remove wrinkles, here's a marvelously effective treatment, which also acts naturally and harmlessly: Dissolve 1 oz. powdered saxolite in ½ pt. witch hazel and use as a wash lotion.—Advertisement.

HEADACHE SO HAD TO WEAR GLASSES

Well Known Boston Lady Says Plant Juice Has Done Her a World of Good.

Many local people are daily testifying that the celebrated Plant Juice, the new herbal system tonic, on their power to make blood, overcome indigestion, stomach, liver and kidney troubles, and that a small dose taken at bed-time is the remarkable results in the most distressing cases.

Following is the statement of Mrs. H. L. Stanley, who lives on Haverland street and is a well-known Boston lady:

"I have had stomach trouble, indigestion, dyspepsia and rheumatism for the past year. My food seemed to fill up my stomach, causing gas and pains all over my body. I had headaches so bad that I had to wear glasses; had dizzy spells and was very nervous and restless; had no appetite and could not sleep well. I had backache so badly that I could hardly get out of bed. I have taken Plant Juice for about two weeks and can say that it has done me as well as good. I have no more aches or pains, my stomach is fine now and I now feeling 98 per cent better than I have for a long time. I can truly and conscientiously commend Plant Juice to any woman." Plant Juice people every week. Many are half-sick, nervous, who are dosing themselves with laxatives, instead of a small dose of Plant Juice, lasting in vicinity, will prove helpful. They have found that Plant Juice relieves constipation, cold feet, dizzy spells, spots before the eyes, disordered stomach, biliousness, piles, poor circulation, that weak, tired, sleepy feeling, and there is a derangement of the liver, kidneys or bowels, or any part of the stomach. These conditions are the result of the modern methods of living and if Plant Juice is taken in time, it gives almost immediate relief, and it will lead in a speedy cure in practically every case.

The Plant Juice Man is at the Liggett Drug Co.'s Store, corner Washington and Avon streets, where he daily meets the local public and introduces and explains the merits of this remedy.—Advertisement.

WILLARD TELLS OF THE GREAT JOHN L.

By JESS WILLARD.

Copyright, 1915, by A. Merritt. All Rights Reserved.

THE prejudice in the United States against prize fighting is not hard to understand. The American ring, in its early days, was about as tough and desperate an affair as could be imagined.

Tom Hyer, the first American champion, clinched his claim to the title in 1841. At that time the great Bendigo was champion of England, but the game was too young in this country for our fighters to have any standing with the English.

Yankee Sullivan was Hyer's chief rival and his real successor. It was the Irish lad, by the way, who met the first of the English invaders. In 1847, Ben Caunt, the English champion, sent his brother, Bob, to New York to look the ground over.

Sullivan took him on and in a valley in the Blue Ridge Mountains, Yankee whipped the English giant in twelve minutes.

His championship battle with Tom Hyer took place at Rock Point, Maryland in 1849. Hyer stood six feet three inches and weighed 200 pounds, while Sullivan weighed about 175 pounds. The big man won in eighteen minutes, Yankee's courage and science not being able to stand up against Hyer's weight and strength.

Hyer never fought again. He figured in various saloon battles, but drinking weakened his heart and he died in his forty-fifth year of cardiac dropsy. He was the first American fighter to be hurled in whisker's graveyard of champions.

Up to the front came John Morrissey, an Irishman like Sullivan. In 1852 the two met in a championship battle at Boston Corners on the boundary line between New York and Massachusetts.

As near as I can figure it out, the American championship record should run as follows: Tom Hyer, Morrissey, Heenan, Coburn, McCoole, Allen, Jem Mace (champion of the world), Tom Allen and Joe Goss.

John C. Heenan was American born, coming into the world at West Troy, New York. A magnificent figure of a man he must have been, standing six feet two and weighing 200 pounds. He was a machinist and miner before entering the prize ring.

The championship battle between Heenan and Morrissey was fought at Long Point, Canada, in 1858. Heenan's training was broken up by sickness and he entered the ring in poor shape. It was also his bad luck to break his right hand in the first round.

Morrissey won in eleven rounds, but he retired after the fight, went into politics and was elected to Congress. It was after this that Heenan fought Sayers and King in England, being cheated both times.

Three more Irishmen, Joe Coburn, Mike McCoole and Jimmie Elliott, now came forward to take the place of the dying Heenan. Coburn fought the giant McCoole in 1862 near Charleston, Maryland, and won in sixty-seven rounds.

After his defeat at the hands of Coburn, McCoole climbed up again and in 1869 claimed the championship, after winning from Tom Allen on a foul. Three years later he met Allen again and was whipped to a standstill in twenty minutes.

McCoole, while drunk, shot another fighter to death and was indicted for wilful murder. His friends saved his neck and he left St. Louis to be heard of no more.

In 1876 Joe Goss, the Englishman, came over to the United States. He had been whipped twice by Jem Mace and had fought a draw with Tom Allen. It was Allen that he was after now.

The men met in 1876 in Kentucky. A ring was pitched in Kenton County, but at the last minute the police compelled a jump to Boone County. The battle lasted fifty-three minutes, when Allen fouled to avoid a knockout. Goss was hailed as champion of the United States.

Now we get down to John L. Sullivan, a real fighter. The "Boston Strong Boy" was first heard of in 1878, when he began to spar at exhibitions. Joe Goss, coming along after the Ryan fight, took a benefit in Boston, and Sullivan was put forward as a chopping block. The Boston boy hit the old champion so hard he nearly killed him.

Sporting men now began to get interested in Sullivan. The Strong Boy was short on science, but he had the most terrible blow ever seen in a ring.

They matched him against George Rooks, a clever Englishman, and Sullivan knocked him out in one round. John Donaldson of Cincinnati was looked on as a marvel of cleverness. Sullivan went to Ohio and whipped Donaldson twice for good measure.

Steve Taylor was put to sleep in one round and then Sullivan met John Flood on a tugboat in the Hudson River. Flood took the count in eight rounds.

It was now Paddy Ryan's turn to face the terrible Boston Boy. The fight was for the championship and $2,500 a side and it took place in Mississippi on February 7, 1882. The Boston Boy beat Ryan to a pulp in nine rounds lasting eleven minutes.

Sullivan's style was all his own. It was his way to walk forward, smashing rights and lefts, and driving his opponent before him. Never in his life was he known to back away, feint or fiddle.

It was the last bare knuckle fight in the United States. Gloves came in after that and wrestling also went out. The new rules made a finer, cleaner, more humane fight and the boxing game began to look up.

While never a scientific fighter, Sullivan discovered something that the scientific boxers had overlooked. He found the knock-out blow to the jaw. Up to that time it had been a case of wearing a man down by brutal punishment. Sullivan stumbled on the sleep-producer.

This discovery, as much as the change in rules, revolutionized boxing. It did away with plain slugging and opened the door to real science.

PASTORS SPLIT OVER APPLE 'NOAH ATE'

Was it Noah or Adam who ate the forbidden fruit?

Boston ministers are divided over this question.

The commonly accepted belief that Adam and Eve in the Garden of Eden ate the apple has received a shock from the discovery of Professor Steven Langdon of Oxford, who has recently deciphered a tablet in the possession of the University of Philadelphia, which places Noah in the Garden of Eden instead of Adam and Eve.

The following ministers have these statements about who ate the apple in the Garden of Eden.

The REV. DR. C. H. PAGE of the Page Bible class of the Dudley Street Baptist Church, Roxbury.

"In my manner of thinking, Noah was never in that Garden of Eden. We know but some friend of Noah, having a spare moment with time hanging on his hands, sat down and chiseled something "off" on Noah.

Noah was not a prohibitionist. After the flood was managed he planted a vineyard. He was not after gardens, but vineyards. That was his great hobby, and it got the best of him.

I do not believe we can accept all tablets found.

The REV. W. N. TENNY, secretary of the Sunday School Union of the Advent Christian Church, No. 160 Westminster street, Roxbury.

Noah did not eat that apple.

He was never in the Garden of Eden.

He had all he could attend to in building the ark. That was honor enough for any man. I believe the Bible is literally true. When it says Adam and Eve were in the Garden of Eden, I accept that teaching. It has been received for ages. It has been confirmed again and again from different sources. Many of these scholars put too much faith in old tablets.

Why, they had fakirs in those days making tablets to lead people astray.

TODAY'S STOCK MARKET

By W. H. ROSS, Financial Editor

Stocks opened strong and active in New York, with trading in war issues still the feature. There was more business in Boston at the start, but chiefly in Tamarack, which sold at a new high. There was a fair public demand for railroad shares in the former market. Coppers remained quiet. Canadian Pacific was strong there and also in London. It reports for road operations a decrease of $5,603,330 in surplus for 1915, as compared with the previous year. But its special income from outside operations increased $2,231,461. One reason for the recent rise in security prices is improvement in business in this country. It has not been marked, but it is general enough to afford a great deal of encouragement. An idea of the condition of foreign trade may be gained from the fact that the ports of general merchandise at the port of New York yesterday showed an increase of $7,390,142 compared with Monday a week ago. Imports decreased $449,052. Exports showed $10,166,320 and imports $2,466,941.

SOLD AT HIGH RECORDS.

Among issues to sell at "new highs" in New York were the Brake, Westinghouse, Willys-Overland, Pressed Steel Car and General Motors. Pressed Steel sold at 75½, its highest price in several years, within half an hour. Demand for material for war munitions is keeping steel plants very busy.

Gains at the end of fifteen minutes included Allis Chalmers ⅝, U. S. Steel ⅜, Car and Foundry ¾, Baldwin Locomotive 1¼, Baldwin 1, Crucible ⅝, Distillers ⅜, General Electric ⅜, General Motors 1⅞, Mexican Petroleum 1⅝, Pressed steel 1, Studebaker 1⅜, Westinghouse ⅝, Willys-Overland 2, Anaconda ⅝ Utah ⅝, Rock Island 1⅛, Baltimore & Ohio ⅜, Canadian Pacific 2¾, Reading ⅛, Southern Railway ⅜, New York Central ⅛, New Haven ⅝, Northern Pacific ⅛, Reading ⅛, Southern Pacific ⅝, St. Paul ⅝, Union Pacific 1¼ and American Woolen ⅝. Northern Pacific was the leading issue in the early dealings, selling from the start, but it caused only slight reactions.

BIG GAIN FOR TAMARACK.

Tamarack advanced five points in the Boston market within a few minutes. Other gainers included Calumet & Hecla 3, Granby 1, U. S. Smelting ⅛ and New Haven ⅝. Among declines were Alaska Gold ⅛, American Woolen preferred ⅛, Butte & Superior ⅛, American Zinc ⅛ and Calumet & Hecla 1.

It is reported that inquiries for copper metal have increased this week, but no sales of importance have been made. Dealers are asking around 13 cents a pound for electrolytic. There is little business being done at present, it is understood, in either spelter or lead. The slump in prices in London has depressed the metal market here.

ODIVA AND SEA LIONS BIG HIT AT KEITH'S

Odiva the Samoan Nymph, and her trained sea lions proved a decided hit at the two performances at Keith's Theatre yesterday. She gave a marvelous exhibition of endurance under water, with a picturesque stage setting showing the famous seal rocks at San Francisco.

She showed her agility as a swimmer in a number of fancy sensational diving stunts. The mammals also gave several things and showed that they are well trained. Perhaps the best part of the act was their clever line of action.

Odiva is as much at home in the water as the mammals. Once during her act she goes to sleep at the bottom of the tank. The Hawaiian Trio company, is of the best.

Bert Levy furnishes ten minutes of fun in an imitation of comic opera, while Conroy and Lemaire, in a comedy sketch, "Rehearsing for the Public," furnish a number of laughs.

Edna Showalter is appearing for the first time here as a vocalist. Other acts on the bill are the Mosconi "rothers, one of whom gives a remarkable imitation of a cornet; movie star Charlie Chaplin, and Leo Jackson and Mae do some exceptional stunts on the swing.

The Pathe Weekly movies of news events of the week is popular feature.

Park Theatre.

Two big Paramount productions top the bill at the Park Theatre this week. The first is a five-reel feature, present such well-known celebrities of the stage and screen drama as Pauline Frederick and Blanche Sweet and Carlyle Blackwell.

Miss Frederick appears in the Famous Players Film Company elaborate picturization of the celebrated emotional drama "Sold," and probably never before have her wonderful talents as an emotional actress been displayed than in this photoplay.

Blanche Sweet, one of the most charming and popular of all screen stars, is seen in the leading role of the five-act screen drama at Paulino Frederick and Blanche Sweet and Carlyle Blackwell.

Miss Frederick appears in the Famous Players Film Company elaborate picturization of the celebrated emotional drama "Sold," and probably never before have her wonderful talents as an emotional actress been displayed than in this photoplay.

Blanche Sweet, one of the most charming and popular of all screen stars, is seen in the leading role of the five-act screen drama at Paulino "The Secret Orchard," by Agnes and Egerton Castle, founded on the novel by Channing Pollock.

Other important numbers on the bill included Lee Orchestra, under direction of Charles Frank, Josephine Isleib, lyric soprano; Park Topical Review and Pathe's Daily Paramount Travel Series and a Charlie Chaplin comedy.

Boston Theatre.

Dorothy Donnelly, the famous star of "Madame X," and Charlie Chaplin, the world's greatest comedian, in his very newest Essanay-Chaplin comedy, "The Bank," shown for the first time in Boston, are the twin attractions that head the big program at the Boston Theatre this week.

Miss Donnelly is starring in a wonderful five-part Indian romance entitled "Sealed Valley," in which she plays the role of an Indian girl who falls in love with a white man, only to lose him on account of her race.

Miss Donnelly puts all the fire and emotional power in this characterization that made her work so effective in "Madame X" and "The Garden of Allah."

Charlie Chaplin in his new comedy, "The Bank," keeps the huge audiences at all the performances yesterday in the most convulsive state of laughter. He was never funnier.

dettes offer their splendid concerts. Charles B. Nichols and the Fatwiles daily.

St. James Theatre.

Heading the all-star show at the St. James Theatre yesterday was the dramatic playlet with Dr. Marten Scott and William as the entitled, "The Way Out." Henry & Moore pleased with their comedy acrobatic work. Dunley & Merrill appeared in bits of musical comedy. Handis & Millership, two comedians, delighted with their funny sayings, while the Trowing Tabors, unique club jugglers, also appeared. Among the fast photo plays was Charlie Chaplin in his latest comedy entitled, "The Bank." "The Romance of Elaine," was also shown.

Scollay Square Olympia.

The Olympia Stock Company (Walter, Fowler & Barrett) made an excellent hit in their new playlet entitled, "The Governor," presented at the Scollay Square Olympia.

Others to score were Mildred Farker, Boston's most popular violinists; the Three Cox Sisters, in song and dance; Oliver Brothers, in an acrobatic numbers; Morris & Parks, clever entertainers; Nana & Company, in a dancing offering with special scenery and effects.

MAJESTIC SEES ELEANOR GORDON

Miss Eleanor Gordon, one of the most popular actresses ever identified with Boston stock companies, was given a cordial welcome by a big audience at Majestic when she started her week's engagement as the star of David Belasco's melodrama, "The Girl of the Golden West."

Boston theatregoers are well acquainted with Miss Gordon's accomplishments, and especially so in this particular play, as it was in the role of The Girl that she achieved a remarkable success some seasons ago in this city.

Her efforts last night met with cordial commendation. She was given excellent support by members of the Majestic players company.

Other members of the cast who contributed in making the play a success were Harry Guy Carlton, who played the part of the sheriff; Frank Rose Morrison as Wowkle, a squaw; William Mason as Senora Slim, and James Hayden, who took the part of Nick, the barkeeper.

Amusements at Summer Resorts

PROVINCETOWN.

Down Boston Harbor and across Cape Cod Bay to picturesque Provincetown, one hundred miles of delightful travel is the route of the daily trip on the steamer Dorothy Bradford of the Cape Cod Line, which leaves Long Wharf, Atlantic avenue, week days at 9 and Sundays at 8:30 a. m.

PARAGON PARK.

Patrons of the Palm Garden at Paragon Park, Nantasket Beach, are regarded, while dining, with unrivalled entertainment in the form of cabaret and dancing specialties every evening.

This week the cabaret includes, in addition to the Mazanette Trio of singers and Art Spaulding and Miss Dupree, the features, Caprice Lewis, in a daring and sensational trapeze specialty, and Frosini, who renders popular and classical selections on the accordion.

PEMBERTON INN.

For tempting dinner specialties and distinctive entertainment, Pemberton Inn is not surpassed by any seaside dining resort in New England. Cabaret entertainers in demand every evening, the cabaret featuring Mr. Quinn, Miss Sawyer, Miss Fletcher and Frosini.

BASS POINT.

A delightful hour's sail down Boston Harbor is followed by the Bass Point and Nahant Line, and two steamers make trips almost every hour, returning the day and evening from Otis Wharf, Atlantic avenue, to Bass Point and Nahant. The amusement features and attractions at Bass Point are as varied as they are numerous.

LEXINGTON PARK.

The popular Adam Good players, under the direction of Particio ol'Hara, presented yesterday in the Lexington theatre a three-act comedy drama, "Money Mad." Beginning Thursday and for the balance of the week, Rose E. Eyre's great comedy, "A Runaway Match," will be presented.

NORUMBEGA PARK.

At Norumbega's famous open-air theatre this week the popular vaudeville bill was presented. Heading the bill is Musical George, who presented a very fine act of xylophone and bells. The Three Burdells entertained with aerial and comedy. Pelzer & White were applauded time and again for their excellent singing. An act which seemed to please especially the young people was Mexican Herman & Co. At the evening performance the spectacular pictorial triumph, Neptune's Daughter, was presented.

Coming Events in Boston Playhouses

The management of the Cort Theatre announced today that the theatre will open on Labor Day, September 7, with Selwyn & Co.'s farce comedy, "Twin Beds." The show has been running a year in New York. The cast includes Bodie Kennedy, Ray Cox, and all the original players.

* * *

Charles H. Waldron's Casino will be opened for the season Saturday afternoon, with "The Gay New Yorkers" as the opening attraction.

* * *

Valeska Suratt, as the visiting star with the Majestic players, will be seen at the Majestic Theatre, beginning Monday afternoon, August 16, in a dramatization of Alphonse Daudet's famous novel, "Sapho."

THE RULES: Read Carefully, Then Save for Reference

1. The Boston American presents a Play Title Competition which is a test of education, thought, skill and judgment.
2. The cash awards, $55 in number, will be to the value of $4,000.
3. Any resident of New England may compete except employes of the Boston American, their relatives and families.
4. It costs nothing to enter the contest.
5. Each day, for 85 consecutive days, a picture will be printed in the Daily and Sunday American. Contestants must supply each picture with a title, using the title of a play that shall be most fitting and appropriate, describing it most completely. The one suggesting the most fitting and appropriate title shall earn the first award; the one supplying the next greatest number shall earn the next award, etc.
6. The winners will be decided by a committee of three official judges who will be well known persons of recognized ability and character in the community and who will consider each title on its merits.
7. No contestant may submit more than five titles to each picture.
8. No titles will be adjudged as "most appropriate" until after the close of the contest. The "most fitting and appropriate" titles will be determined by the official judges from among all the titles submitted by all contestants and only after all such titles submitted have been carefully examined. When the judges agree on a title regarded by them as the "most fitting and appropriate," their adjudication will be so considered on all contestants' lists. For example, if there were six different titles submitted for picture No. 1, the judges will examine these six titles and decide which one submitted is "most fitting and appropriate" to Picture No. 1. If two or more titles submitted are equally "most fitting and appropriate" to any picture and superior to all other suggested, each such equally fitting titles will be approved and credited as "most fitting and appropriate." In case of a tie, the one who submits the least total number of titles, including those "most fitting and appropriate" and others, will earn the applicable award. In case of a tie in this, a tie, the award shall be determined by the judges' decision of the originality of the titles, taking into consideration originality, skill, judgment, as shown by the best individual title in numerical order and send them in ALL TOGETHER AT ONCE.
9. No person can win more than one award and not more than one award will be awarded to any one family or household, or to persons residing at the same address, excepting non-relatives living at hotels, apartments or boarding houses. Fictitious names or addresses are not permitted, and their use will debar contestants. Such decision will be final.
10. There will be no book of titles to buy. An official list of play titles will appear each week in the Sunday American during the contest. This list will be the standard for contestants to use in selecting the titles for pictures appearing during the seven days beginning with each Sunday officially published, and all titles selected for that week's seven pictures must be among those in and selected from that list. It is not necessary to buy the Boston American to obtain this official list, as it may be secured free upon application to the Contest Editor.
11. Answers may be sent on a coupon which will be printed in the American, Daily and Sunday, or a copy of it. Each answer must be attached to the picture or a copy of it. A picture (or a copy of it) from which coupon has been clipped, will not be considered.
12. Contestants must NOT send in their answers before the contest ends. Answers sent in before the last picture appears will not be considered, but keep them from day to day and at the end of the contest arrange the titles in numerical order and send them in ALL TOGETHER AT ONCE.
13. All answers must be directed to the Boston American Contest Department, No. 5 Winthrop square, Boston, Mass., within the specified time limit, which will be announced later. The Boston American cannot be responsible for matter sent by mail and urges contestants who use the mail to send their packets by first-class registered mail. Carelessly addressed mail will refuse answers on which postal charges are not prepaid.
14. As the awards will depend on the conscientious decision of the committee of judges, who will be presented pictures of the highest character, using their best judgment as they would if deciding on the best story or poem in a literary contest, their decision will be final.
15. Entering the competition is an acceptance of all rules now or hereafter to be made by the Sunday American or the committee of judges and the decision of either on any point shall be absolutely final.

Globe Theatre.

A show 'cll of vaudeville features was presented at the Globe Theatre yesterday. Among the headliners were The Holdsworths, in a pleasing musical novelty; Kane & Dixon, Charles Bartholomew, direct from London Music Hall. The Roland West Players delighted with their comedy playlet, entitled, "Dugan's Money." Maud Tiffany, the Marie Maids, and the girls presented a joy feast that was genuinely original and cleverly arranged.

Modern Theatre.

"Lady Audley's Secret," the William Fox photo dramatic success, in which Theda Bara scored such a tremendous personal triumph at the Modern, is one of the best known of the plays of Mary Elizabeth Braddon. When presented on the legitimate stage, it was the marked success of the season, not only on Broadway, but also in London. The production of this photoplay is said to be in line with the William Fox policy of producing only the best known plays with the attendant possible casts.

Tremont Theatre.

This week and next are positively all that remain for "The Birth of a Nation" in motion. The marvelous moving picture play has continued its tremendous success with the same great throngs in attendance as when the piece first came to town.

OUR FIRST DUTY IS TO MAINTAIN PEACE;
OUR NEXT DUTY IS TO PREPARE FOR WAR

LET LEAGUE OF NEUTRAL NATIONS URGE MAKING OF PEACE IN EUROPE

In an editorial which appeared in the Hearst papers of July 26, Mr. Hearst wrote:

"Furthermore, such a league of the neutral nations and a board of arbitration so constituted would be in a wonderful position to bring this war to a quick termination.

"It could bring to bear not only the persuasion of a wholly impartial body, but the direct influence of a very powerful league — a league powerful enough absolutely to compel an end of the war, in case it elected to exert its power in a peaceful way.

"Indeed, such a league might be the beginning of a world association of nations which would COMPEL THE SUBMISSION OF ALL DIFFICULTIES BETWEEN NATIONS TO A WORLD COURT OF ARBITRATION, and this would seem to be the only way in which wars can be ended, just as the only way in which private and individual disorders are ended is by the ENFORCEMENT of order, through the union of all citizens in the social organizations."

The present seems to be an excellent time to move for peace.

Poland is taken and formally occupied by the Germans. The German western front remains unbroken. The Italian advance is checked. The difficulty of "destroying Germany" must now be apparent to all the participants in this maniacal conflict.

The possibility of all the participants destroying themselves, their wealth, their civilization, their very race, must be becoming painfully apparent.

SINCE NOTHING IS TO BE GAINED BY FURTHER WAR EXCEPT MUTUAL AND RECIPROCAL DESTRUCTION, WHY NOT RESTORE THE COMMON GOOD, UNIVERSAL PROGRESS AND PROSPERITY BY PEACE?

It must be evident now to all that prosperity for one is not to be gained by destroying the prosperity of others, but rather by building up the wealth of the world in which all men share.

Peace means PRODUCTION, CREATION.

Let us produce wealth, create progress and prosperity and share in these good things, not according to our greed and envy, but according to our ability and deserts.

Let us have PEACE.

Let us have peace and progress, prosperity and happiness throughout the world. Let the rule of Christianity and civilization be restored!

There is reason to believe that all the nations at war would now gladly welcome the formation of a league of neutral nations which could offer the mediation of a wholly impartial body.

Reading between the lines, it is not hard to see that all of the belligerents are heartily sick of the war, heartily sorry that they ever engaged in it, heartily willing to be done with it, if only some way out that will save their faces can be opened to them.

Of course, successful mediation pre-supposes a mediation acceptable to all.

The position of that acceptable mediation this country might have occupied, perhaps, at one period of the struggle.

But our diplomacy, whether right or wrong, has certainly excited the suspicion of the Teutonic allies, and they would not be apt to agree that we mediate.

For one reason or another, there does not seem to be a single power which would be acceptable to all the belligerents.

But a league of all the neutral nations would constitute an ideal mediatory agency.

Such a body could proffer its good offices without exciting the suspicions of Teutons or of allies and with a weight of authority that no one nation could possibly exert.

In fact, in view of all the conditions, it is difficult to see how there can be acceptable mediation at present without the formation of just this league of neutrals, and it is AT PRESENT that mediation should be offered and a determined effort to secure peace should be made.

If this hideous war is permitted to go on until the passions of the combatants are inflamed to desperation and until nothing will satisfy either but the frightful destruction of the others, the whole fabric of our civilization will be in peril.

As a result of such hate and bitterness and wholesale ruin and devastation, it might easily happen to fall to our lot in the future to have to contend alone in arms for the supremacy and the liberties and the civilization of the white race.

The war is now at a stage where the mediation and good offices of a powerful league of neutral Caucasian nations has every prospect of being grateful to the combatants and of bringing about a permanent peace.

But should this dreadful slaughter continue for months to come, until one of the alliances has the other in a strangle hold, it is more than likely that the enraged and exultant victors would heed no plans for peace, while it glutted its hate to the full.

It is precisely because such a dreadful probability does exist that it behooves us as Christian and civilized men and women to exert every effort to bring about peace while it is still possible to make a successful effort.

Let us nobly and generously display a true friendship toward all the nations by uniting those which are happily at peace in a great league to bring peace NOW.

Our relative importance, power, resources, riches and population make this nation the unquestioned chief and leader of the neutral powers.

They look to us for the initiative, for counsel, for guidance.

Beyond any doubt, they would all instantly and joyfully accept a proposal of the United States to join in an alliance, not for purposes of war and destruction, but for purposes of peace and the preservation and promotion of civilization and progress.

Citizens, we do indeed occupy "a wonderful position for bringing this war to a quick termination."

Ought we not gladly to seize this opportunity?

Ought we not to be instant in calling together the representatives of our sister neutral nations?

Ought not the soul of the nation be swift, ought not its feet be jubilant to carry the war-worn and suffering peoples across the seas the message of peace on earth, good will to men?

Could a great people, confident in their own strength and placed by the providence of God and by their own virility and intelligence above the suspicion of either fear or sinister motives, more splendidly emphasize their deep concern for the welfare and happiness of all mankind than by thus exerting their influence and authority to hasten the end of this awful war—this war which is destroying the rich results of all the white man's thousand years of upward struggle and civilized achievement?

Countrymen, let us rise to this noble opportunity.

Let us make haste to use this wonderful position to bring this dreadful war to a quick termination.

Once-Overs

There may be times in your life when you envy the man who has money, though you know he accumulated it through the heartaches of others, and you may say to yourself, "What is the use of being straight and thinking of others? Why not grab off everything I can, and if others have to suffer, that is their own lookout."

You should get rid of such thoughts as soon as possible. Not only are they wrong, but they will lead you to unhappiness and loss of self-respect.

There comes a time to every man who has obtained his money by financially ruining others when he would give anything—everything—if he might enjoy the peace which comes from treating everyone right.

Some men, when they think death is near, begin distributing their money among charitable institutions with the hope of repairing some of the damage they have done, but just the same they suffer as only a man can suffer whose conscience cannot be quieted.

There is no reason to envy such a man. The genuine happiness you enjoy is something his money can't buy.

COMMENDS FAIRNESS

Editor BOSTON AMERICAN:

Dear Sir—The officers and members of Providence Division, No. 618, of the Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Railway Employes of America, comprising 2,453 members, take this means of expressing their sincere thanks for the attitude of the Boston AMERICAN in our present arbitration proceedings.

The fair treatment received by us through the columns of your paper is deeply appreciated by each and every member of our organization.

Again thanking you for your fairness in this matter, very respectfully yours,

CHRIS. DANIELS,
Secretary, Division No. 618.

OUR TERRIBLE STREETS

Editor BOSTON AMERICAN:

Dear Sir—Am a resident of Boston for over twenty years, and have never seen its streets in as horrible condition as they are today.

The AMERICAN is showing the proper public spirit in repeatedly calling attention to the disgraceful conditions prevailing. But what is to be done? The City Council cannot be blamed for not wishing to burden the future generations with an expense that we ourselves have contracted and are liable for.

Why hasn't our city administration the moral courage to raise the tax rate if the present rate is inadequate to take care of the streets? Does it think that the citizens have no other means of judging the efficiency of the administration except by the tax rate? Look at the number of apartments that are idle, the number of stores that are vacant and can be hired at from 60 to 75 per cent. of their previous rental, and consider whether it is good economy to save a few cents per thousand in the tax rate and have the streets in filthy condition.

Does any one think that all that is necessary to boom Boston is to place a few signs outside the railroad stations inviting people to come and settle here? If the prospective settlers are not blind they will have to be blindfolded first, and if they are blind how are they going to read the signs?

Yours very truly,
Boston. H. M. BRENNER.

Duty of Parents to Warn Children

By Ella Wheeler Wilcox

Copyright, 1915, by the Star Company.

TWO girls in their teens, with vague ideas concerning the laws which govern the relations of men and women, were led into paths of folly by mature men. Both children (for they were only children in years) were innocent-minded and ignorant of the evil paths they were entering. Each was instructed by her betrayer to keep silent concerning what had occurred, and to say nothing to her mother.

Now herein lies a tremendous warning for every girl, and indeed for every boy, in the world. Whoever tells you to keep any act a secret from your mother or your rightful guardian, rest assured that person is your worst enemy, and the act they bid you commit is a folly or a sin.

Do not trust any older person who endeavors to extract a promise of secrecy from you in regard to your conduct. There is never any necessity for secrecy in the conduct of a young girl or a young boy.

There is never an excuse for concealing from the parents or the protectors of the young any act. Remember this always and shun as you would shun a leper the man or woman who bids you do or say anything which is to be hidden from your family or your teachers.

Meantime, O parents, do your part toward saving the children entrusted to your care from such dangers and such evils as befell these two young girls, whose lives were blighted through ignorance. Tell your little girls and tell your little boys the necessity of keeping their bodies pure and clean, and warn them of the dangers which lie in permitting any unwholesome thoughts or acts to mar their conduct.

There is a delicate and safe way to talk to your children on these subjects. You can tell them of the laws of nature in the unfolding of the seed into the plant and the flower and the fruit. You can tell them that human beings are the greatest and the most wonderful expression of this divine law of nature which God has sent into the world.

You can tell them that the process of birth is similar in all the domains of nature, and that all are holy and sacred, and must be so regarded and not debased by unclean actions or thoughts or words. You can bid them wait until their minds develop, when the great fundamental truths of life will be revealed to them, and you can win their confidence so that they will not deceive you or choose wrong associates with whom to discuss these topics.

It has invariably proven to be a fact that children who are so instructed and so trusted by their parents in early childhood develop healthfully and wholesomely in body and mind, and escape the perils and pitfalls which so frequently blemish the lives of those who have been kept in utter ignorance, with a mistaken idea that it insured innocence.

You can make your children understand that a delicate bud on a plant if bruised or torn apart by familiar hands would never develop into a perfect flower or fruit. It must be left sacredly alone for nature to ripen and develop in its own beautiful way. Tell each child that its own purity is like that bud and it must not permit familiarity, either of conversation or conduct, or it will lose its perfection and be blighted before it arrives at maturity.

Warn your children to avoid at once and forever any one who asks them to conceal an act from you. Absolute confidence between children and parents must be established, or there is no beauty, happiness or satisfaction possible in the relation of parent and child.

Children will more readily avoid doing a dangerous or unwise act if they are told it is bad taste than if they are told it is an evil thing to do. Almost all the horrible tragedies which have occurred with young children would have been avoided had the parents of these children reared them with an understanding that they must accept no attentions, favors or courtesies from strangers.

Establish at once and forever confidence and sympathy between yourself and children if you would avoid heartache and sorrow for yourself and them in the days to come.

Storm Centres

By Jane McLean

A WIDE sea waste with lowering clouds
Sweeping above the roll of foam,
Pale rain ghosts clad in misty shrouds,
A ship at sea sails spread for home.
And rain, wind maddened, shivering by
Till westward gleams the first clear sky.

Long lashes cast discreetly low,
The quivering of a tender chin,
Rose color in a wavering glow,
Storming the tide that swells within,
Till with the tears that quickly dry
Eyes misty still, the storm sweeps by.

More Truth Than Poetry

By James J. Montague

Good Old Bill

IF baby's teeth are coming in or grandpa's dropping out,
If father's growing pale and thin or mother's growing stout.
If worms are eating up the beans, if sister's hair won't curl,
If it gets harder every day to keep a servant girl;
In fact, if there is anything which really troubles you—
Bill Taft will make a speech anon and tell you what to do.

IT makes no difference what it is that fogs your laboring wit,
If he's invited out enough he'll get around to it.
The country editor is wise, the graduate is wiser,
But Bill outclasses both of them as humankind's adviser.
And while the crowds hold out to dine and Bill holds out to speak,
There is no fear of pinching out his information streak.

HE has no clanging silver tongue, he drips no eloquence,
Like Brutus, he just talks right on and talks plain common sense;
He rearranges football rules the way they ought to be,
He digs up ethics for the use of folks like you and me.
One night he shows a yeggman where his scheme of life falls short,
The next he prods a Justice of the U. S. Supreme Court.

HE doesn't cry "God bless you" with a smile profuse and bland
The while he holds a half a brick behind him in his hand.
He doesn't pass banalities with a conceited smirk,
The maxims that he makes for you you'll find will really work.
And as real wisdom's not so thick around this vale of tears,
We hope he'll keep on dining out for lo! full many years!
